Michael and Mona Smith, 18-month-old twins are under treatment in Decatur, Ill., hospital for scalded feet and legs. Impatient Mike tried to pull himself out of tub, grabbed handle of hot water faucet and scalded himself and sister. Their mother, Mrs. Edwin Smith, said they'd be in hospital for at least two weeks. ## Economy Move Sidetracked As Arms Aid Gains Favor

They're All Suspicious And Bear Watching

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 27 (AP)—Two detectives were sent out last night to investigate a suspicious-looking man standing in an alley.

They found the man was the watchman at an industrial plant. He told them that for half an hour he had been keeping an eye on a suspicious-looking man at the other end of the alley.

"Time," said the detectives. "Keep it up. We'll circle and get him from behind."

Suspicious-looking man No. 2 explained: He is a watchman for another plant and for half an hour had been keeping an eye on a suspicious-looking man at the other end of the alley.

Errol Flynn Has Some Tax Trouble

That's With Lili, However; None Looms With His 'Ex,' Nora

Hollywood, Sept. 27 (AP)—Errol is over a barrel.

The income tax he pays on Lili Damita's alimony keeps pyramiding in cost every year. But still, says Lili's attorney, it means less out of Flynn's pocket than if she paid it herself.

Two wives ago, in 1941, Flynn (who since has married and been divorced by Nora Eddington, now Mrs. Dick Haymes) entered into a property settlement agreement with Miss Damita. He agreed to pay her $18,000 a year.

Provision was made in the agreement that Flynn should reimburse her for any increase in her income tax caused by his payment to her of the $18,000 alimony.

In 1944, says Adrian Kragen, her lawyer, Flynn paid Miss Damita $18,000 alimony, plus $10,000 taxes on the 1943 alimony. The government held that all this was income to Miss Damita, so she was required to pay taxes on $28,000, which amounted to $17,000. Flynn reimbursed her for the $17,000 in 1945, and additionally gave her the regular $18,000 alimony.

That was a total of $35,000 he gave Miss Damita in 1945. The tax on $35,000 was $21,000, so in 1946 Flynn gave her $21,000 plus $18,000, or $39,000.

In 1947 the tax rates were lowered. The tax on $39,000 was only $21,000, the same as it had been on $35,000 the previous year. So Flynn gave Miss Damita $39,000 again in 1947.

In 1948 Flynn gave Miss Damita $18,000 alimony plus $22,000 on the previous year's combined income.

In 1949, Kragen estimates, Flynn will have to pay $18,000, plus $22,000 on the 1948 combined total of $40,000. (The totals are continued on Page 15, Col. 5.)

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—The position of the Treasury September 23: Net budget receipts $285,922,611.33; budget expenditures $283,533,030.66; cash balance $5,470,651.52; customs receipts $26,476,378.74; budget expenditures for fiscal year $9,962,943.16; budget deficit $1,485,950.29; total debt $25,224,890.97; decrease under previous day $46,865.59; gold assets $24,400,968,908.59.

Senate-House Group Will Send Measure in for Final Ballots

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Swift agreement in a Senate-House committee on a $1,314,010,000 overseas arms program sped along today one U. S. answer to Russia's A-bomb claims.

The news of an atomic blast in Russia served to speed agreement among the lawmakers that friendly nations must be strengthened against the threat of communism.

A Senate-House agreement late yesterday sidetracked "A House economy move and agreed, in three hours, on the higher cost program voted earlier by the Senate. The discarded House figure was $989,415,000, or $444,595,000 less than the agreed-upon Senate figure.

The conferees worked on final small points today. They will clear the way for final Congressional action, first by the House and the Senate.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told reporters the Russian atomic reports "have given the arms program new strength."

Republican Senators Bridges of New Hampshire and Knowland of California agreed.

Usually conferees appointed to settle Senate-House differences reach agreement by an in-between compromise. In this case the House members dropped any pretense of fighting for the lower figure. And as the authorization bill now stands it contains:

$1,000,000,000 for the North Atlantic Pact nations;
$211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey;
$27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines;
$75,000,000 which may be spent by the President—as he sees fit—in the China area;
$200,000,000 to ship $450,000,000 of surplus arms.

House members insisted on only relatively minor changes in the arms plan voted by the Senate. Briefly, the program would authorize:

Dulles Says Federal Aid To Education Is 'Swindle'

Oradensburg, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Senator John Foster Dulles hung a tag of "swindle" today on proposed federal aid to education and said the plan would give Washington the power to control the thinking and beliefs of the people.

The Republican candidate for election to the Senate seat he holds through appointment by Governor Dewey said New York state would get back only 25 cents of every dollar it paid to the federal government under the proposed program.

On the second day of a four-day cross-country campaign swing of northern New York, Dulles struck anew at President Truman's domestic policies and said that former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, his Democratic-Liberal opponent, had swallowed the Truman program "hook, line and sink."

Dulles came here from Watertown where last night he accused the Truman administration of deceiving the people. He said it tells them only "what they will get" and does not mention the cost in taxes and what he called the loss in personal liberty.

The public's best interests, Dulles contended, do not lie in the direction of expanding federal power and the lessening of local responsibility.

He blasted the Brannan farm price support plan as "a rotten deal to the farmer" and promised

AngloProfit Tax Now Is 30 Per Cent

Cripps Opens Debate on Devaluation; Party Seems to Have Gained Strength

Warning Is Given

Chancellor of Exchequer Tells Business More Could Come

London, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps raised Britain's profits tax by one fifth today to offset the inflationary effect of cheapening the pound.

The tax on profits now is 25 per cent. Cripps told the House of Commons he is increasing it "as from today" to 30 per cent.

"The chancellor of the exchequer also warned British business men: 'If there is any further breaking away from the voluntary limitation of dividends I shall consider myself at liberty to introduce legislation to restrict dividends in the next finance bill.'"

Cripps opened the crucial debate in the House of Commons on the devaluation of the pound. He was fortified by a Labor Party caucus which, informants said, decided to stand behind the government on the currency issue.

The Laborites met in caucus for two hours and 20 minutes this morning preceding the opening of the government's parliamentary test on the currency questions.

Before the meeting there had been speculation that some left-wing members of the party, openly hostile to price rises resulting from the pound devaluation, might desert Prime Minister Attlee's support on a vote of confidence to be taken at the end of the three-day emergency debate.

That possibility now appears to have been avoided. The informants said the Laborites reached a general agreement to support the Attlee cabinet in its fight for survival. Defeat of the government on the motion of confidence would require the prime minister to call a new election immediately although the Labor Party's five-year term does not expire until next July.

Leaders of the Liberal party decided in another meeting to have 10 members of the House of Commons vote against the government. The party said it might even propose a motion of censure after hearing what Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, has to say.

Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, was expected to speak for the opposition in the parliamentary debate. The Conservatives' precise line has not been announced.

"The confidence motion asks Parliament to approve devaluation and calls on the people for full cooperation in steadying the British economy."

Assuming that the Labor party will win the vote of confidence, the prospect of an early general election still is not ruled out. Labor chiefs could decide that their party's victory chances would be better in an election held soon than one held after the effects of devaluation have set in. Devaluation is sure to mean higher living costs—an effect which ranks and file labor resents.

The government entered today's parliamentary debate without the public support of the powerful

Contract Awarded For Belle Ayre Lift

Albany, Sept. 27—Awarding of the contract for equipment for a modern chair lift and start of its construction on Belle Ayre mountain at the Pine Hill Ski Center in Ulster county was announced today by Perry B. Duryea, commissioner of the New York State Conservation Department.

John Reibling and Sons, Tronton, N. J., are supplying the equipment and the conservation department is erecting the lift, Duryea said. It will be able to carry 400 passengers an hour from the 2,400-foot level at the southern bend on Overlook Drive to the 3,400-foot level with an intermediate landing at the halfway point.

Plans call for completion of the lift by the middle of December.

Tax Law Revision Gets Top Billing For Action in 1950

New Levies Might Result in Effort to Balance Budget; Some Cuts Are Possible

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—A general revision of federal tax laws was assigned top priority today for congressional action in 1950. It may produce some new taxes in a drive to balance the nation's budget.

Whether the new tax law will bear any resemblance to President Truman's now-abandoned 1949 proposal for a $4,000,000,000 increase no one now can say. As a general rule, Congress is not disposed to raise taxes in an election year—which 1950 would be.

There were indications that, while hunting for new sources of revenue, Congress may actually reduce some levies—probably in the excise list. Some members believe the wartime excise rates to be burdensome both to taxpayers and to business.

House Speaker Rayburn disclosed the tax bill priority for 1950 in calling for immediate House action on a pending measure calling for expansion of the government's social security program.

The idea, Rayburn said, is to clear the way for the House Ways and Means Committee to tackle overall tax revisions early next year.

The speaker did not say definitely what he expects in the new tax law but he did comment, significantly, that the government cannot indefinitely continue deficit financing—that is, borrowing to pay for day-to-day spending.

Some experts are estimating that the government, in the current fiscal year ending next June 30, will go into the red by more than $5,000,000,000.

Reds Lack Formula On Bomb Making

O'Mahoney Says Russians Haven't Knowledge or Proper Facilities

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Vyo.) said today every sign indicates Russia doesn't have the industrial know-how or facilities to stockpile atomic bombs.

O'Mahoney, who led one Congressional group in the drive to tighten the secrecy around American atomic developments, told a reporter he doesn't agree with Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that information leaks may have speeded Soviet efforts to fire an A-bomb.

"The basic scientific information has been no secret," the Wyoming senator said. "It's the industrial know-how of making the bombs that is important."

"The Russians just don't have the technical abilities nor the facilities to stockpile bombs. Just look at their attempts to produce automobiles. They are far behind and this certainly is a much more complicated matter than producing automobiles."

Hickenlooper told the Senate yesterday that "loose security policies" by the Atomic Energy Commission had "permitted vital information to filter out of this country."

"I have no doubt that they have helped step up Russia's time table for the production of an atomic explosion by a very substantial period of time," he declared.

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Conn.) of the Senate House Atomic Committee took sharp issue with Hickenlooper.

McMahon said an investigation by the committee of Hickenlooper's charges of "incredible mismanagement" against the A.E.C. and Chairman David E. Lilienthal hadn't produced a single bit of evidence that loose security policies helped the Russians get atomic knowledge.

"On the contrary," he said, "the evidence showed a profound and

Vishinsky Agrees Balkan Conflict Rates High Spot

His Peace Proposals Also Should Get Superior Place

Lake Success, Sept. 27 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky agreed today that the Greek-Balkan conflict should be given top priority in debate of the U. N. Political Committee.

The Soviet foreign minister insisted, however, that his own general peace proposals should be placed high on the agenda also. He suggested that his proposal be taken up immediately after the 59-nation committee concludes debate on the Greek-Balkan issue.

The discussion over priority developed as the General Assembly's major committees began their long weeks of detailed work at Lake Success. The first week of the Assembly's session was devoted to national policy statements at Flushing Meadow Park in New York.

Delegates, meanwhile, awaited the formal filing of Chinese charges of Russian interference in China's internal affairs. Diplomatic quarters said Chinese Delegate T. F. Tsiang would hand the complaint to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie sometime during the day.

The western powers already have indicated they will oppose the Russian peace plan as insincere.

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin, who previously had characterized the Soviet peace offer as propaganda, insisted that this item be placed on the calendar after the Italian colonies and Palestine issues.

The 59-nation assembly ended its first round of general policy speeches yesterday. The session was marked by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's charge that Russia is responsible for stalling international control of atomic energy.

Today U. N. activities shifted from the assembly hall to Flushing Meadow to Lake Success. Three main topics called for committee action were:

Charges by the U. N. Commission on the Balkans that Communist Albania and Bulgaria are contributing to aid the Greek guerrillas; disposal of the former Italian colonies; and charges by Austria backed by the U. S. and Britain—that peace treaty guarantees of human rights are being violated by Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania by political persecution and religious trials such as that of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, sentenced to life imprisonment in Hungary.

The 14-member Steering Committee yesterday agreed to recommend an assembly debate for Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal for a five-nation peace agreement. Vishinsky proposed last week that the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China sign a new pact to strengthen peace.

American Delegate Warren Austin said he did not oppose the Austrian peace but said the Soviet olive branch was filled with poisonous thorns.

Yesterday's plain speaking about Russia's attitude—including her threats to Yugoslavia—was brought to a climax by Britain's Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin who declared the Berlin crisis was of Russia's making and that atomic controls have been balked by Russia.

L. B. Pearson, the Canadian Foreign Secretary of State, accused Russia of "civil war-mongering."

State Police Arrest 17 Pickets in Move to Block Violence; Reopened Mines Are Strip Areas Where Shovels Dig From Surface Veins

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27 (AP)—Eleven hundred non-union bituminous miners defied the striking United Mine Workers and went back to the pits in western Pennsylvania today. State police moving to block violence quickly arrested 17 pickets.

The state troopers brought reinforcements into the four-county Clearfield area where 35 operations resumed after a week of idleness due to picketing by unionized bands.

Miners went to work carrying rifles and shotguns. Armed guards paced near entrances to mine workings or stalked in underbrush nearby.

Scores of automobiles containing pickets cruised leisurely on narrow winding roads skirting the mines but made no reported efforts to interfere.

In Clarion county some 50 miles from Clearfield, state police arrested 17 pickets charged with violating a court injunction against mass picketing.

Mines being reopened are located north of Pittsburgh. Most of them are strip workings in which steam shovels dig coal from surface veins. Others are underground operations.

Lieut. Frank L. Garrow reported 17 arrested for mass picketing around the Wingert mine near Silgo in Clarion county. A court injunction issued recently prohibits mass picketing.

Garrow said 13 carloads of miners picketed the mine and that more arrests are expected. Sheriff W. R. Hannold dispatched a bus to the scene to pick up the pickets. Several of those held were said by Garrow to have stolen trucks hauling coal from the mine. No one was reported injured.

Some 250 non-union diggers went back to work in the area around Clearfield. Most of the 35 mines ordered reopened by operators are strip workings in which steam shovels dig coal from surface veins.

Upwards of 50 state police patrolled highways in the area in an effort to prevent outbreaks of violence. The troopers were brought in overnight from widely scattered points.

Reports of violence came from West Virginia yesterday. Two pickets were arrested and one unidentified person injured as bands of roving pickets closed all union coal mining operations in Glenwood county. And in Tuscarawas county in Ohio, nearly 200 men forced trucks hauling non-union mined coal to dump their loads.

The other train runs daily, leaving Weehawken at 7:59 p. m. and arriving in Albany at 12:30 a. m. The company sought to abandon operation of this train between Kingston, N. Y., and Albany.

P.S.C. Turns Down New York Central Bid for Rehearing

Order Has No Bearing on This Week's Session at Court House

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad has been turned down by the State Public Service Commission on a request for a rehearing on a commission order requiring the railroad to continue operation of two passenger trains.

The Central seeks partial discontinuance of the two trains operating between Weehawken, N. J., and Albany, N. Y., on its West Shore Division.

Commission Chairman Benjamin F. Feinberg announced denial of the petition yesterday.

The commission held that testimony in its investigation indicated continuance of the trains is required in the public interest, and that the railroad had not given sufficient reason for reopening the case.

One of the trains involved operates daily, except Sunday, leaving Albany at 3:10 p. m. and arriving at Weehawken at 7:25 p. m. The railroad sought permission to run this train on Saturdays only.

The other train runs daily, leaving Weehawken at 7:59 p. m. and arriving in Albany at 12:30 a. m. The company sought to abandon operation of this train between Kingston, N. Y., and Albany.

Associate Grade Separation Engineer A. R. Williamson, of the State Public Service Commission, will hear testimony Thursday at the Ulster County Court House at 10 a. m. on curtailment of rail service.

The trains affected are Nos. 13, 16, 25 and 26.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27 (AP)—The seismograph at the University of Pittsburgh today recorded a "very strong" earthquake about 2,895 miles north of Pittsburgh, possibly in Alaska.

On Thursday Lewis is slated to meet with northern and western operators at White Sulphur in Alaska.

There are no signs the strike will end soon. The U.M.W. is scheduled to meet Wednesday at Bluefield, W. Va., apparently on the question of back royalty payments. Lewis has served notice he will not bargain on a new contract, to replace the one which ran out last June 30, until they ante up.

Pickers Are Found

Pay for Picking Said to Be 12 Cents; Yield Speeds Work

Apple growers of Ulster county are harvesting one of their best quality crops in history.

Based on predictions on early estimates received from many individual growers, William H. Palmer, county agricultural agent, said today the crop will not be a record in quantity but may easily prove to be Ulster county's best crop in years from a quality standpoint.

Returns to the growers will not be so great, with apples of a grade which sold for $3 this time last year bringing only $2 a bushel this year, Palmer said. Hope is held for a strengthening in price later in the fall, however, after the local quality apples which must be eaten immediately are disposed of and only the top quality apples remain to be sold, he said.

Best guesses as to the total Ulster county apple crop run about 4,000,000 bushels.

No accurate estimate may be made until the harvest is completed and apples begin to move into storage, Palmer pointed out. The total crop, however, will probably not exceed the crop of 1946, he said.

In quality the apples being harvested are "the best ever," the county agent said. "They have lots of color, are firm and free from blemishes," he said.

Prices are kept down at the beginning of the harvest by large numbers of drop apples and bruised fruit placed on the market. These apples are suitable for immediate use but are unfit for storage.

When the bruised fruit is disposed of there will remain only the top quality apples, and growers hope that at that time they will be able to realize greater returns.

Net Return Down

Growers point out that this year they paid the highest prices in history for spray materials, which further cuts down net returns from the bumper harvest.

When the harvest is completed, it is expected that the U. S. No. 1 grade apples will be as many in number as ever before, County Agent Palmer said.

This year one quantity record has been made. More Cortland apples were grown here than in the past, the Cortlands becoming more popular with Ulster county growers in the past several years. The old Ulster county standby, Macintosh, still accounts for more than half of all apples raised here, however.

Apple harvest season points up the tightening employment situation. Where in past years, especially during the war, appeals through press and radio were being made for part-time apple pickers, this year the New York State Employment Service reported no difficulty in obtaining sufficient numbers of pickers to handle the large crop.

More migrant workers from the South are reported to be working in Ulster county, according to the Farm Bureau.

During and just after World War 2 apple pickers were much sought after. Regularly employed persons, housewives and older school students were sought for harvest work on their days off, and in many cases trucks were scheduled to transport the workers to the fields.

This year, apparently, the harvest jobs are being sought, and employment office officials have little difficulty in filling the vacancies. This morning, for instance, the N.Y.S.E.S. office in Kingston reported at 10 a. m. that there were only unfilled offerings for those pickers listed with them.

Picking rates are a little lower this year than last, but pickers are able to make as great a total pay because of the larger crop, employment office officials said. Pickers average 12 cents a bushel this year, compared to 15 cents a bushel last year, it was reported. Because of the plentiful yield of the trees, however, pickers are able to gather a bushel in less time than last year, it was reported.

More migrant workers from the South are reported to be working in Ulster county, according to the Farm Bureau.

During and just after World War 2 apple pickers were much sought after. Regularly employed persons, housewives and older school students were sought for harvest work on their days off, and in many cases trucks were scheduled to transport the workers to the fields.

This year, apparently, the harvest jobs are being sought, and employment office officials have little difficulty in filling the vacancies. This morning, for instance, the N.Y.S.E.S. office in Kingston reported at 10 a. m. that there were only unfilled offerings for those pickers listed with them.

Picking rates are a little lower this year than last, but pickers are able to make as great a total pay because of the larger crop, employment office officials said. Pickers average 12 cents a bushel this year, compared to 15 cents a bushel last year, it was reported. Because of the plentiful yield of the trees, however, pickers are able to gather a bushel in less time than last year, it was reported.

O'Dwyer Is Assailed

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—Newbold Morris, Republican-Liberal Fusion candidate for mayor, charged last night that Mayor William O'Dwyer "has undermined civil service and prostituted the merit system for the benefit of politicians. Morris said the mayor has 'packed' the municipal Civil Service Commission with two 'Tammany votes.' Morris assailed the administration's appointment of provisional city employees as a '$40,000,000 gravy train for the politicians.' In a radio address over Station WNBC,

Several Cases Are Moved Ahead In County Court

Disposition of several grand larceny, burglary and unlawful entry charges against Foster and Harold Post of Catskill was again postponed in County Court Monday afternoon at the request of counsel for the brothers. The cases were moved over to Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The Post brothers were indicted by three separate bills for entrance to places in Ulster county and the alleged taking of materials. Among the places was the shop of the contractor who built the new pavement on the Ontario trail from West Hurley to Boiceville, where it is alleged equipment was removed. M. Hirschberg appears for the Posts.

A grand larceny, second degree charge against Michael Schmidt was also put over until Wednesday at 10 o'clock on request of Charles Saccoccia, attorney.

John Lucy, Jr., of Gardiner, while intoxicated as a second offender, appeared in court and through his counsel, Walter J. Miller, entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Miller told Judge Cashin that at the time of the incident, Lucy, who had not been drinking for eight years, had been working emotionally as a result of the death of his father and asked leniency. Damage to the truck involved in the matter has been paid for. Judge Cashin imposed a $200 fine which was paid and sentenced Lucy to a year in the county jail but suspended execution of the jail sentence and placed Lucy on probation. His license was revoked by the court. It already had been suspended following the accident.

Several other cases appearing on the criminal calendar, were moved over to Wednesday at 10 o'clock and others to Friday at 10 o'clock.

In the case of James Bolde, burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, bail was forfeited when Bolde failed to appear in court and a bench warrant for his apprehension was directed. A companion case, The People vs. Conrad Bolde, was moved over the term. Conrad Bolde was in court. J. Worona appears for the two defendants.

Clement Burger of Kingston, charged with assault, second degree, entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Robert Ortale, appeared for the defendant in the absence of his counsel, Chris J. Flanagan, who is ill. Burger, 24 years old, was convicted of the same offense in city court in 1947 and was sentenced to 6 months in the county jail. Judge Cashin said that he had apparently not taught the defendant his lesson. Burger was sentenced to Elmira State Reformatory.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock Wednesday when the jury will return. All civil cases with the exception of No. 16, Gladys Vollmer against Marie B. McNitt, contract, were moved over the term. No. 16 will be called on Thursday at 10 o'clock.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Sept. 26—St. John's Episcopal Church of High Falls has announced several special services for the next three weeks. Thursday, September 29, is St. Michael and All Angels Day, and there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 9 a. m. Members of the Women's Auxiliary are reminded that the Triennial United Thank Offering will be present at the general convention in San Francisco on that day.

On October 5, there will be a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary at St. John's Parish Hall at 8 p. m. Sunday, October 9, Archdeacon George F. Bratt will take the morning service. Archdeacon Bratt is in charge of all the missions of the New York Diocese. October 16 is Laymen's Sunday and Henry M. Hewitt, an Admiralty lawyer of New York, will speak on the subject "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" October 18 is St. Luke's Day and there will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 9 a. m. and as a culmination of this active program, a Virginia baked ham supper will be served in the parish hall Tuesday evening, October 18, beginning at 5:30. Mrs. Harold Van Kleeck is general chairman of the supper. She will be ably assisted by the other ladies of the church. The Rev. Robert Ward is vicar of St. John's Parish.

Mrs. Edmond O'Hara entertained a party last Monday afternoon after school in honor of her son Leonard's sixth birthday. Those present were David and Jeffrey Rask, Allan Hoppe, Michael Hasbrouck, William Lambertson, Edmond O'Hara and Leonard O'Hara. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ransom and Mrs. David Rask and Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck also were present. The afternoon was spent in games followed by refreshments.

LIGHTNING STRUCK ONCE—Jeweler B. E. Walzel of Houston, Tex., sincerely hopes the old adage that lightning never strikes twice in the same place is true. Because, the place where lightning struck once was Walzel's head. The bolt passed through his body, stripped a watch from his wrist—the shattered parts of which Walzel examines above—and came out his heel. His only injury, was a slight burn on the heel.

Favor Is President Of Circulation Group

Inlet, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Cyrus H. Favor of the Utica Daily Press is the new president of the New York State Circulation Managers Association.

Favor was elected yesterday at the organization's 32nd annual convention to succeed Milton H. Attman of the Schenectady Union-Star.

Other officers: T. Garwood Gilbert, Jamestown Post-Journal, first vice president; Charles Curry, Beacon News, Newburgh, second vice president; Arket C. Lewis, Binghamton Sun, convention secretary, and J. Truman Kahler, Rome Sentinel, secretary-treasurer.

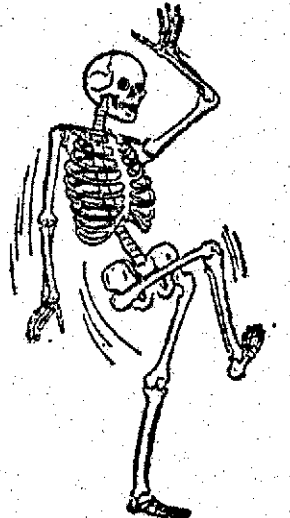

New Directors named were Russell H. Grahame of the Albany Knickerbocker News and Frank M. Shippe of the Onondaga Star. The three-day convention ends today.

Mrs. Roosevelt Named New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was named yesterday as an honorary chairman of an independent citizens committee supporting former Governor Herbert H. Lehman for U. S. senator on the Democratic ticket. Former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., was named honorary chairman on the finance committee of the citizens group.

Temperatures Are Normal

Chicago, Sept. 27 (AP)—Temperatures headed for near normal marks over most of the country today. Some cooler air moved across the Dakotas and extended over the Great Plains and upper Mississippi valley. But, weather forecasters said, the mercury would reach near normal levels during the day. The early morning lows were in the 30's in the Dakotas. There were only a few wet spots. Light rain fell in southern Georgia, parts of the Carolinas, southern Virginia and eastern Kentucky. There also were a few showers in the plateau states but skies generally were clear elsewhere. Heavy rains hit parts of Florida yesterday, with Orlando reporting 1.65 inches in six hours. The fall at Jacksonville over a 24-hour period was 10.42 inches.

ELUSIVE PEACE

In the current session of the General Assembly of the United Nations, delegates will be reminded in many ways that the international organization, founded to keep peace in the world, first must make peace. A year ago the Assembly faced the facts of war in Palestine and Indonesia. Those wars have ended, but now there are other problems of shooting, or near-shooting, war. Chief among these are the Greek conflict, which threatens more persistently than ever to involve neighboring Balkan nations, and the trouble in Korea.

The United Nations was set up with the idea that its work would be to prevent wars rather than to stop them, which is much harder. There was not created with the body much machinery for stopping wars. Yet that function has occupied much of its attention from the beginning, and the Assembly has had little time to consider means to make itself better able to cope with the problems of wars already begun. Sooner or later the Assembly must attack the matter of obtaining greater international authority for itself, so that more real power may be employed in the settlement of international disputes.

In this the United Nations will need much moral backing and real support. Real power can be given to it only if individual nations are willing to submit to its authority. Long ago when people first began to gather into communities, individuals and families were reluctant to submit to the power of community authority. Today no one thinks of any other way, for all know that they are safer and more free to live as they please when the authority and responsibility for keeping the peace are in the hands of a higher unit of government, the community with its police force. Nations might find it so, too, for the world is a community.

THE ITALIAN COLONIES

A new proposal for the future of the former Italian colonies in Africa has been prepared for presentation to the United Nations. The international body has the problem by default of the Big Four, which failed to agree on any plan. It would provide for an interim government of Libya, for two to five years, by an advisory council of local members and representatives of five other nations, one of which would probably be the United States. For Somaliland there would be a trusteeship, but the selection of a trustee would be a hot question. The United States has wanted to give the job to Italy. Eritrea would be split up, most of it going to Ethiopia and the western province to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Thus under this plan one of the colonies would be prepared for independence. The most historic segment of Libya, Tripoli, was once an independent nation, one of the Barbary States. It was originally subjugated by Turkey, and taken from Turkey by Italy as a prize of the war of 1911-12. For Somaliland there is less prospect, as apparently there is no foundation on which to build an independent nation. Perhaps one might develop under a wisely administered trusteeship. That is a point against the American sponsorship of Italy for that responsibility. It is hardly likely that Italy would encourage the growth of a local administration capable of independence in the sole remnant of the empire.

HOW ABOUT THE U. S. NAVY?

Perhaps you noticed that a family of six from Fall River, Mass., undertook to swim from the Battery to Coney Island through New York Harbor the other day. Three, the father, one son and one daughter, made it.

The family promptly announced that they would try to swim the English Channel next year. Perhaps they were encouraged by the fact that three men made a successful crossing recently in the same day.

Or maybe they've heard that dolphin, who swim in schools, have been doing quite nicely for a long time in their efforts to negotiate the treacherous channel waters.

Anyway, this team attempt ought to be interesting. A veritable armada of rowboats

PROFITS

It is not often that I give you a letter from a reader, but occasionally one is so worthy that it ought to go into the widest circulation. This one comes from the St. Paul Dispatch and I give it in full:

"Sir: Although I enjoy reading her Mail Bag letters, I can't experience the distress registered by a contributor over George Sokolsky's remarks about profit. Frankly, I was born without acquisitive talents. If I ran a harbor-dashery as Harry Truman did before the Pendergast machines salvaged him, I would fail just as Harry failed. Faced by the financial problem of Robert Humphrey, faced as mayor of Minneapolis, I'd make as miserable a mess as Harry made of Minneapolis finances. I'm as dumb about such matters as these, proved themselves to be—but I don't hate him who does have the natural ability to operate a business successfully. He is my meat. All others, including our welfare-state government, shake me down for every last shakedown, but he pays me an income. Through those who operate at profit, all of us ride instead of walk, eat instead of starve, are housed, heated and clothed.

"I don't hate the man through whose enterprise I have a radio, telephone, electricity, etc.—even if he owns six houses, ten cars and 20 overcoats to my one. These all mean jobs and money for someone like me. Instead, I hate the moron who tries to keep him from making a profit.

"WORTH STEWART.

"St. Paul." The fact is that without profits there can be no growth and no development. In some countries, particularly in Great Britain, a very large share of profits earned in enterprise is divided among the stockholders. They cut the melon and lived like gentlemen. In the United States, a very large share of profits has been reinvested in growth and improvement and it used to be that some of it went to the consumer in price reduction and the perfection of quality. Business grew large through the reinvestment of profits. If profits are used in this manner, obsolescence disappears, because there is an urge to the use of new methods and new ideas, and there is the money to finance it without borrowing. For instance, the processes in the steel industry are constantly changing. Without such changes, steel would be too expensive and such products as the automobile would be outside the purchasing power of a large part of our population, as it is in many other countries. It is the reinvestment of profits that makes that possible.

In recent socialistic years, the very word, profit, has been smeared as a bad word, because in the leveling-down process now current, everything is bad which makes for progress without government. The ideas of Robert Nathan, for instance, are characteristic of one who would destroy the genius of American industry by a misuse of profits. He would divide the melon immediately.

Such men believe that the investor is only interested in large returns immediately. Even if such cupidity did motivate the American investor, high taxes have changed his attitude, for when the advantage of large returns is gone, only the exhibitionist requires colossal figures and that they might be published before the government takes the bulk of it. Most decent people want to preserve their businesses rather than to show off what they can pull down.

Some propose that profits should be divided between the worker and the stockholder, and if the enterprise requires additional capital, it should get it from banks, by borrowing, or from the government, by borrowing, or by selling more stock. That is unsound business. It is sacrificing an enterprise permanently for some immediate advantage to a few individuals. It is spoiling the future for the present. It is not sound planning, even if it is advocated by self-proclaimed planners. It might leave our industry where British industry found itself after the war.

Profits are a mechanism not only to make money for individuals, but to induce young men to be progressive, active and up-to-date. That mechanism must not be tampered with by those who are fanatically doctrinaire.

PSYCHOMOTOR EPILEPSY

I have written before of a patient at our base hospital who was found in a fit requiring eight or ten minutes to hold him. I was about to go to the scene as our consulting psychiatrist entered the door, and I had him accompany me. When we arrived, the consultant took one look at the patient, told the orderlies to stop holding him, assured me there was no danger, then quietly told the patient to behave himself as he was interfering with the work of the hospital. The patient went quietly back to his ward.

The consultant told me that an alarm of fire had been sent to the fire department from a military hospital across from his home and he recognized the patient as the one who had pulled the alarm and was directing the drivers where to line up their trucks. He was the "head man" for the time being. This condition, called psychomotor epilepsy, the patient knows what he is doing and, of course, even if he throws a fit he will be careful not to hurt himself.

If he had a genuine epileptic attack he would not be conscious of what he was doing and so might hurt himself. For years, then, we have always considered that a patient during an epileptic attack was unconscious and a patient during an attack of hysteria was fully conscious. In fact, that was the way a diagnosis of epilepsy or hysteria was made. It was considered as a surprise to many to learn that in a form of epilepsy called psychomotor epilepsy, there may be a convulsion present, and the patient is not unconscious.

In "Archives, Neurology and Psychiatry," Drs. E. L. Gibbs, F. A. Gibbs, and B. Fuster point out that psychomotor epilepsy attacks are rare in children and common in adults. The chief symptoms of psychomotor epilepsy are: The patient becomes confused, and as a rule loses his memory, but does not usually lose consciousness. His movements are purposeful but his coordination is poor and he does the opposite to what he wishes to do or it is told to do. "He is like a person acting out a bad dream." Often during the seizure there are manifestations of fear or rage with screaming or shouting.

Unfortunately, the usual treatment of epilepsy—more fat and less starch foods, with daily doses of phenobarbital—do not help psychomotor epilepsy and surgery may be necessary.

Oasis—Or Just Another Mirage?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Last week's news that Russia had unloosed her own atom bomb caused this writer to do some digging into his own columns written during the Christmas season immediately after the first A-bomb was exploded.

We have all become a little more calloused, a little more hardboiled, a little more weary than in those breath-taking days when the war was just over in 1945. But the ideas set forth at that time probably apply just as much as ever, and with apologies they are reprinted herewith.

"Sometimes it takes the abyss of pessimism and hopelessness to arouse people to new and revolutionary measures."

"The atom is a revolutionary weapon, the most revolutionary in all history. It needs revolutionary diplomacy to combat it. Old-fashioned talks between three or four diplomats, who sit for a few days around a green table, and then issue brief communiques to the public aimed to cover up what they didn't accomplish, will not cure the gnawing suspicion, the selfish ambition, the lust for power that breeds war."

Christ Was Revolutionary
"Only diplomacy of the most revolutionary kind," based upon the sermon on the mount, can counteract the revolutionary weapon of the atom bomb. Many of us have forgotten that Christ was a revolutionary. Sometimes the world has forgotten this just as woefully and completely as it has forgotten the principles which he taught.

"At the time Christ was born, a much higher standard of moral ethics than there is in the world today, and the prophets of Israel had repeatedly warned their people that if they did not live up to those standards they would be destroyed."

"Later Jesus epitomized all this teaching and brought forth the highest expression of moral and ethical standards ever given to man in the sermon on the mount."

"Now, 2,000 years later, in the heart of Christian Europe, where more professed Christians live than any place else on the globe, people have virtually destroyed themselves with a war of their own making. They chose to disregard the teachings to which they gave lip-service.

World's End?

"In the United States a scientific capsule has been given man which offers the world two distinct and definite alternatives:

"1. We can get into another war and see the globe made into a ball of fire by the hand of man himself; or

"2. We can use practical Christianity to prevent war, and by harnessing the energy of the atom, make the world a virtual Garden of Eden."

"Perhaps the prophets of Israel have now come back as scientists of the atom to warn us that the end of the world can come not by flood but by fire."

"The problem is immediate and urgent. We have to decide now whether we are going to fight for peace just as vigorously as we fought for war, or whether we are going to drift—which eventually means another war."

"We have got to make up our minds whether we are going back to the basic teachings of the man who was born 2,000 years ago and whether we are going to carry them out militantly—as militant as connoted by the hymn, 'Onward, Christian Soldiers.'"

Heading Off War

"Congress doesn't seem to realize that the time to head off war is long before it starts. And if they would spend a fraction as much money harnessing the international ground for peace as they have spent in regard to war, the next generation could live in security."

"No good businessman would ever think of neglecting his salesmen or of hiring poor salesmen to make the rounds of customers. He would go out of business in no time. But we as a nation fail to apply the same good business practice in regard to the most sacred thing in our possession—the lives of the next generation. We select diplomats for political reasons, or because they have enough private cash to live abroad on the miserly salaries we pay them; and we fail to give them an advertising campaign to supplement their work."

"This may not seem much like religion, but to me religion is a question of doing, not merely having faith. As I understand Christ's teaching it is a doctrine of going out and administering to others, and if necessary, rowing with money-changers and driving them out of the temple."

Selling the Idea

"Christ was a man who went out and worked at his religion. He didn't stay in one place. He didn't hide his candlestick under a bushel. He battled so hard for his cause of peace on earth, good will toward men, that eventually he sacrificed his life."

"He had what he thought was a great idea and he traveled day and night trying to sell it."

"Now we in this country have a great faith in government and a great basic concept of getting along with our neighbors. And it's time we went out as Christ did and tried to sell our American religion."

"We can't sit passive in big, ornate houses as most of our ambassadors do, giving out cocktail parties for upper-crust old ladies and other hasbeens. Our diplomats have got to go out and talk to the real folks that make up the backbone of the country."

"This is not just theory. It works out in practice that when the people of a country are behind you, and don't have to worry about their government, their government—even an out-and-out dictatorship—can't make war on you. The people won't let 'em."

"However, if the Russian people are fed by a controlled press and radio only what their Politburo want them to know about us, then the problem becomes more difficult. The boys in the Kremlin are now much more afraid of the spread of democracy than we are of communism. They are adopting exactly the same system of ward us that the Russian people use. The State Department adopted toward them."

"They don't want their people to mix with ours, they don't want American newspapers or preachers to circulate over there. They don't even like children of the Russian Embassy in Washington going to our schools."

"This makes the problem difficult but not insoluble. After all, use of the atom up until a short time ago was considered insoluble."

"The solution, as I see it, is to go over the heads of the Soviet isolationists and win over the Russian people."

The above ideas, written in December 1945 when Russia did not have the A-bomb, are even more applicable today when she has.

Russia May Give Answer of Disturbing Nature to A-Bomb Controversy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 27—Russia may soon announce that she has not the remotest intention of attacking the United States, but she may emphasize once more that her primary interest is security for her empire in Europe.

Such a maneuver in the propaganda war, which is certain to ensue now that the Russians have the A-bomb, could cause considerable of a flurry among the peoples of Europe.

For if the United States is assured that Russia intends only to guard its situation on the continent. This might conceivably be Russia's answer to the Atlantic pact and the arms aid program.

Under the provisions of the Atlantic treaty, an attack on any European country which signed the pact would automatically bring the United States into the war. But would American aid come in time in a third world war which might be begun by the dropping of a dozen atomic bombs on the important air fields of Europe from which heavy bombers would be launched? Would the United States from 3,000 miles away, even with the intercontinental bomber, be able to maintain sustained attacks in time to deter a Russian advance into the heart of Europe?

These are questions that will open up new phases of debate in the world.

Many observers here are beginning to realize that the Russian A-bomb might require a revision of strategy. For use to now American have been thinking almost wholly about sending bombers from this continent to destroy Russian bases and paying less attention to the true objectives of Russian military planning—to occupy Europe suddenly and dare America to bomb Paris and other allied cities.

Russia may have as many as one hundred A-bombs within two years. This is a lot of A-bombs, because America's stockpile is supposed to be numbered only in the hundreds, too.

The estimate as to America's probable number is derived from testimony given before a Senate committee by Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, the atomic bomb expert.

The estimate as to Russia's probable stockpile within two years has just been made by Dr. E. E. Lapp in an interview in the current issue of "U. S. News & World Report." Dr. Lapp worked on the Manhattan project and, as a consultant witnessed the dropping of the two atomic bombs at Bikini. He was scientific adviser to the War Department and later in the Research Division of the Navy Department and was formerly executive director of the Atomic Energy Committee of the Research and Development Board of the national military establishment.

Dr. Lapp is the one scientist who seems to have specialized on defense aspects of the atomic bomb. He has played much apprehension by pointing out the real damage that an A-bomb can do and how concrete buildings and underground subways are a complete defense against the deadly radioactivity of the A-bombs. Dr. Lapp's plea made in his book "Must We Hide?" published early this year, was for defenses in American cities by better planning and construction of adequate and safe systems in the crowded areas. He was one of the first to dismisses impractical and improbable the use of A-bombs by an enemy through suitcases or by dropping them in harbors. They do too little damage for an enemy's purpose that way and hence it is not likely that they would be wasted in this manner.

Dr. Lapp sees no military purpose in improving the destructiveness of the A-bomb. He thinks the Russians would overrun Europe with their armies and that the United States and her allies would hesitate to strike the cities of our own allies with the atomic bomb. He believes orthodox methods would have to be used in military strategy and that the foot soldier and ground armies will have to be reckoned with in order to conquer the enemy.

More land-army power—wider standing armies than are now in training—may be indicated for Britain and our continental allies. Likewise, the building of several strong strategic barriers, such as the British and American to operate on the seas and deliver the A-bomb in short, successive strikes is also indicated. For while carriers are vulnerable to a certain extent, it is a fact that not a single carrier task force in the last war was put out of commission by Japanese suicide planes.

Defense on the whole will cost more but it will have to be a better balanced system of army, navy and air force, not only for the U. S. but her allies in Europe. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 27—I have a letter from Danbury, Conn., asking for information on the organization known as Americans for Democratic Action. It says:

"Governor Chester Bowles is sending an organizer to Danbury to organize a local chapter. I am quite sure this is a left wing and radical organization but have no facts to prove that contention. I wanted to write an article for our local paper and need facts. Can you help me out?"

The meeting referred to has been held and I have read in the Danbury News-Times that A.D.A. made no impression. Mrs. Lucy Conniff, a local Democratic leader, a member of the Legislature, turned down the organizer for A.D.A., and would have nothing to do with the meeting, which was in words of one syllable, a flop. She said the local Democrats had always done all right as Democrats and needed no help from any city slicker from New York, especially one who didn't know whether he was a Democrat or a Republican. However, Mrs. Conniff is one of those uneducated Irish Catholic Democrats of the old style who hope they are still working for their own, old Democratic party but know in their hearts that their party is being used by carping-gang and adventurers for the ultimate purposes of the Communists.

It is not easy to describe the A.D.A. in definite terms, but first of all, it is a political parasite.

Q—What type of vehicle was the Conestoga wagon?

A—The Conestoga was a big wagon, often painted blue and red, which with the dull white cloth covering gave it a patriotic tinge. The wheel rims of the Conestoga wagon were broad for travel in soft soil and on the prairies. It was named after the town in Pennsylvania near Lancaster where it was manufactured.

Q—How many statute miles are there to one nautical mile?

A—In converting nautical miles to statute miles 1.1515 nautical miles equal one statute mile.

Q—How large is the Taiga Forest of Siberia?

A—The Taiga of Siberia, one of the world's greatest forests, is 4000 miles long and 1000 to 2000 miles wide.

Q—What is the oldest national flag?

A—The flag of Denmark, a white cross on a red field, is the oldest national flag, and has been in existence since the 13th century.

Q—Is the tower of Pisa the only leaning tower in Italy?

A—Italy has two other leaning towers besides the one at Pisa, the 163-foot Garisenda and the 320-foot Asinelli at Bologna.

Estimate Declares Potato Crop Drops 14 Million Bushels

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—This year's potato crop in New York state is expected to drop more than 14 million bushels below the 1948 total.

The State Agriculture Department yesterday estimated the 1949 crop at 23,670,000 bushels. That figure is 14,335,000 bushels below the yield in 1948, when New York stood third in the nation in potato production.

The estimate also is 6,888,000 below the 10-year average.

The department said the decline resulted from reduced acreage and lighter yields.

The Long Island crop was estimated at 10,920,000 bushels, compared with 18,880,000 in 1948. A crop of 12,750,000 bushels was forecast for the rest of the state, compared with last year's total of 19,125,000 bushels.

Russians Discover New Uranium Mine

Berlin, Sept. 27 (AP)—Russia has found a new uranium mine in East Germany to spur its atom bomb production, West Berlin newspapers claimed today.

The papers said the new mine was opened under the direction of Russian engineers in former silver mines at Mansfeld near Elsteden in Saxony, Sept. 21.

More than 1,000 German miners were reported working in the new shaft.

The Mansfeld mine is the second uranium source exploited by the Russians in eastern Germany. Several thousand Germans and Russians have been working uranium mines at Aue, near the Czechoslovakian border.

IT MIGHT BE A MUSIC MAKER—The sleek instrument in the hands of a workman at Hyde Park, Boston, looks as if it should turn out some sort of delightful music. Instead, it's a 27-tube heating coil designed to turn cold breezes into warm ones. Once the coil is installed, the copper tubes will be filled with steam, through which will be blown 3200 cubic feet of air per minute for warming.

The Russian books in the U. S. Library of Congress outnumber those in any other library outside Russia.

The Conestoga wagon used in the U. S. covered wagon days was 16 feet long and its wheels were as high as a man.

As Pegler Sees It

sign of the politician in control of the meeting. That is the "democratic process." By that process it was possible one day to formally revoke "democracy" and, in plain language, adopt a dictatorship.

The national chairman of A.D.A. is Hubert Humphrey, the senator from Minnesota, who jammed the so-called civil rights program down Harry S. Truman's neck at the 1948 Democratic convention. The vice-chairman includes: Chester Bowles, the governor of Connecticut; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.; Emil Rieve, the president of the Textile Union of the C.I.O.; and William H. Hastie, a colored man who had several jobs in the Roosevelt bureaucracy and was appointed federal judge and then governor of the Virgin Islands.

The "board" members include: Dubinsky, James B. Carey, a Roosevelt house-pet, formerly of the C.I.O. Electrical Workers, who was given a White House limousine with driver in Washington when the rest of the "war effort" rode the buses or those rickety little mechanical beetles called cabs, or walked; Melvyn Douglas, your old friend Frank P. Graham, a two-sided fellow, both of them left; Henderson; Herbert H. Lehman, Paul A. Porter, Walter P. Reuther, of the Auto Workers, and, until he died lately, A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. That was the old guy who was going to spend his entire treasury of forty million to lick Truman in 1948 but changed his mind.

The A.D.A. program demands treaties with foreign nations which would impose on the people of the United States abridgments or revocations of constitutional rights which could not be abridged or revoked by the normal constitutional process. These foibles are contained in the "Universal Declaration of Human Rights" of the United Nations. They would make it possible, for example, to revoke the license of a radio station in the United States, without recourse to our own courts, on the ground that some broadcaster had said something offensive to some persons in Europe. This wild program was debated very earnestly at the recent convention of the American Bar Association, but so far we are gone already along the road to the goal of the A.D.A. that the result was a noncommittal standoff. Even the American Bar Association could not bring itself to condemn a terrible shortcut to international government of the internal affairs of the United States. Some of my interpretations may be quibbled with to relieve the awfulness of their meaning to Americans, but they are substantially right.

When I observe a secrecy or furtiveness about this concern, I call your attention to the queer fact that when the New York city chapter held its "second convention" last Saturday, the Herald Tribune's account did not name a single delegate or official.

The prospectus of the A.D.A. says it was founded as "a non-communist progressive political organization which would be neither a political party nor part of a political party." It seems strange that it should be at such pains to dissociate itself from communism when so much of its stuff comes out of the book of Marx, but that is by no means an isolated and queer case. Most of those who advocate the basic or early phases of the progress toward Communism boldly decry Communism. As they progress toward Communism—and that is the real meaning of the virtuous political word "progressive" as they use it—their voices get fainter in opposition to Communism.

I am especially interested in President Truman's revenge on the State Right Democrats who opposed him in the last election, by contrast with his friendship with Dubinsky's party and the A.D.A. He ruled out veritable candidates of the Democratic party in five southern states on the charge that they opposed the ticket. But in New York, Dubinsky's party runs its own candidates and even opposes the Democrats, and the A.D.A. flatly declares that it will support Republicans and the other day, did endorse one for mayor. Yet the President kow-tows to Dubinsky and takes orders from Humphrey.

RAYMOND A. McANDREW

One of three new commissioners of appraisal in connection with the Consolidated Delaware Section 12 proceedings in Sullivan and Ulster counties is Raymond A. McAndrew, former deputy city clerk, and later city clerk of Kingston.

His appointment was announced today by Herman E. Gottfried, local counsel in charge of Water Supply Proceedings, City of New York. Gottfried, who made public the appointments for John P. McGowan, corporation counsel of New York, said the other appointees are Daniel J. Sullivan, New York city realtor since 1910 and Joseph G. Cooke of Monticello, former village attorney and president of the Sullivan County Bar Association. A Notre Dame graduate, he has practiced law since 1933. He is a director of the National Union Bank of Monticello.

Relative to the appointments, Attorney Gottfried singled out the qualifications of the three new commissioners, stressing McAndrew's service in local city government; Sullivan's real estate background in the metropolis and Cooke's experience as a lawyer, public official and banker.

McAndrew is a native of Kingston having been born in the Ponckhockie section of the city. He attended St. Mary's School and Kingston High School. For years he was employed at Flanagan's clothing store on Wall street, then served the city as its deputy and later city clerk. He is a veteran of World War 2 and belongs to the American Legion, Knights of Columbus and Elks.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced three" in the car business.

For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:

How would you like to sell against it, with its wealth of Buick features?

How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sixes?

Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.

This styling is certainly something to start other designers toying in their sleep.

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the level-going comfort of the Buick ride—the luxury of Dynaflo Drive, here optional at modest extra cost—all these are wanted things others just can't overlook.

So why not do the obvious thing and go see the car that's causing sleepless nights in Detroit?

Study its smartness, test its room and comfort, try its handling, note the precise figures of its delivered prices.

You can do all that on a single trip to your Buick dealer's—and make your selection of a wide choice of equipment and colors at the same time.

TEN-STRIKE! Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!

TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE • MORE ROOM FOR THE MONEY • DYNAFLO DRIVE optional at extra cost • JET-LINE STYLING • NON-LOCKING BUMPER-GUARD GRILLES • HIGH-PRESSURE FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE • COIL SPRINGING ALL AROUND • LOW-PRESSURE TIRES ON SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • GREATER VISIBILITY FORD AND AFT • SELF-LOCKING LUGGAGE LIDS • STEADY-RIDING TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • THREE SMART MODELS WITH BODY BY FISHER

Veterans' Agency Has Complete Data On Opportunities

There is nothing mysterious about how the G.I. Bill of Rights works or how easy it is for the veteran to obtain advantage of its provisions, according to Howard Shurter, director of the County Veterans' Service Agency.

Director Shurter says that all the veteran has to do is to apply at the Veterans Service Agency office and after the veteran tells them what he wants to do, they will start him in the right direction.

The Federal law grants training opportunities in education, on-the-job training or apprenticeship training, guaranteed home, farm or business loans, and numerous other benefits to all persons who served 90 days in active service beginning on or after December 7, 1941, except those dishonorably discharged.

Director Shurter pointed out that some benefits and allowances under the G.I. Bill have already terminated and urged all county veterans or their dependents to get in touch with 32 Main street or the branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties to avail themselves of the services provided by the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency particularly the many benefit deadlines are approaching.

SON HELD IN DEATH OF FATHER

Acting Police Chief William Kane, in Scituate, Mass., said that Francis Whorf (left), 15-year-old high school student, had been charged with murder in the pistol killing of his father, Kenneth (right), 49. Chief Kane said he believed the youth was motivated by his father's beatings of his mother. (A.P. Wirephoto.)

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—A mid-morning selling flurry joined the stock market today but prices soon steadied.

Leading issues dropped fractions to around a point before leveling off. Taint signs of a comeback appeared here and there but there was no real attempt at a rally.

The volume of trade speeded up as the price level curved downward, then slowed after the impact of the selling had worn off.

The apparent failure of steel negotiators to get anywhere in current talks evidently acted as a brake on demand. Last week the market climbed close to the year's peak, largely because of optimistic predictions that a steel strike would be averted.

Santa Fe took a comparatively bad spill, losing more than two points at one time. The stock has recently been favored on the theory that directors, at a meeting today, might have approved a long-rumored split-up. No split-up was voted but the board did decide on a $2 extra dividend. A similar extra was paid last December.

Union Oil of California was another soft spot, dropping 2 1/2 points to 30 on transfer of 4,800 shares. The board yesterday pared the dividend.

Also lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, American Telephone, Commonwealth Edison, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, International Paper, Coca-Cola, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Nickel Plate, Standard Oil (N. Y.) Gulf Oil, Superior Oil of California, and U. S. Gypsum.

Newspaper Week
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Governor Dewey today proclaimed Oct. 1-8 as Newspaper Week in New York state. The governor said that on the basis of freedom in this country "there have grown up and flourished in New York state a powerful number of the greatest newspapers in the world."

"Some of them are read intensively in the remotest corners of the globe," he said. Dewey, who also proclaimed Oct. 8 as Newspaper Boy Day, said "it is also fitting that we remember the means whereby the newspapers are brought into our hands."

'Modern' Pharmacy
Frankfurt (AP)—The oldest German "modern" pharmacy is celebrating its 600th anniversary in Frankfurt. Before 1349, pharmacies were only allowed to sell herbs and simple ointments. Only physicians were permitted to prepare prescriptions. In 1349, a bubonic plague ravaged Frankfurt. The "Black Death" took its toll among doctors, too. Authority was given to one pharmacy to prepare medicines. Success was so great that Prague and four German cities soon followed Frankfurt's example.

Criticism Is Overriden
Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Senate overrode Republican criticism of the administration's China policies today to confirm by a vote of 49 to 27 the appointment of W. Walton Butterworth as assistant secretary of state.

Sawkill to Get Clinic for Rabies

Supervisor Harry Hulsair, town of Kingston, recently requested the health department to conduct a rabies clinic at Sawkill and one will be held there tomorrow between 7 and 9 p. m. at the school, it was announced today.

The health department said the head of a fox, which was suspected of being rabid, was sent to Albany for a report about a week ago, but no preliminary report has been received to date from Albany.

A rabies clinic was not originally scheduled for the Township of Kingston, which is the smallest in the county, but it was decided to have one in view of the possibility of rabid animals in the area.

Economy Block
The bulk of arms aid for western Europe and make $125,000,000 available immediately to get the aid program underway. This money would come from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The remainder of the cash and contract authority would be provided by appropriation. The aid for western Europe is divided, $500,000,000 in cash and $500,000,000 in authority to enter contracts.

Only $100,000,000 in cash could be spent immediately. The remainder would become available only after President Truman approves defense recommendations made by the Atlantic Pact Military Committee.

The Senate insisted on putting this string on the spending to tie the program more closely to the operations of the North Atlantic Security Council and the Defense Committee.

The House members gave ground, too, in accepting aid for the China area. The House had voted nothing for China.

The conference action does not bind either House to accept the bill. Most lawmakers, however, had little doubt about the bill getting quick approval.

Reds Had Bomb in '46
New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 27 (AP)—The New Bedford Standard-Times said today it had confidential information that Russian held its first successful test of the atom bomb August 15, 1946. At that time, the newspaper said, Russian scientists said the Soviet expect to have a stockpile of 100 atom bombs by July 1947.

Standard-Times said its information came from an undercover agent for a far eastern government who at one time was a special correspondent for the newspaper. It included, the paper said, copies of written reports forwarded to high central intelligence officials in Washington and has been held in strict confidence for three years.

Midget Principals

Property Trust Case Action Is Begun Here

An action was started on September 16, 1949 in the Supreme Court of Ulster county to impose a trust on about 102 acres of land located on Slide Mountain road, Oliveira.

The plaintiff in the action is Fred Heinzelman and is represented by his attorney, Stanley Faulkner. The defendants are Carla Jensen, the owner of record and Walter Walli.

The complaint alleges that Heinzelman has an unpaid judgment against Walli since March 27, 1945 in the amount of $2,275.50, and that with his money Walli bought this property from Rudolph W. Frank of Shandaken, in the name of Jensen in order to defraud his creditors.

The complaint further alleges a conspiracy by Walli and Jensen to defraud Walli's creditors. A Lis Pendens was filed September 16, against the property at the same time that the complaint was filed.

Soldier Is Exonerated
Troy, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Westover Field, Mass., soldier has been exonerated in the fatal shooting of a woman who walked near a wrecked jet plane he was guarding. A Rensselaer county grand jury yesterday returned no indictment against Cpl. Dallas J. Thompson, 26, of Empire, Calif., accused of shooting Marion Noreen, 25, of nearby Brainard.

He had been charged with second degree manslaughter. Cpl. Thompson was guarding the wreck of an Air Force F-84 which crashed near East Nassau in Rensselaer county July 3, killing the pilot. He told authorities the revolver discharged accidentally as he ran toward Miss Noreen and two companions to warn them away from the plane. The bullet struck her in the neck. She died a few minutes later.

Liquor Brings 2 Billions
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 27 (AP)—A total of $2,002,895,000 in liquor taxes was collected by government at all levels last year, the president of the Licensed Beverage Industries says. He is Vice Admiral F. E. M. Whiting, U.S.N., retired. He addressed the opening session yesterday of the 15th annual convention of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Association. Whiting said the liquor industry employs 1,100,000 persons, with an annual payroll of $2,700,000,000. He added that there are 380,000 retail stores in the country.

Airliner Is Spotted
Mexico City, Sept. 27 (AP)—A search pilot said today he had spotted the Mexican airliner which crashed yesterday in the snows of Popocatepetl volcano with 24 persons aboard. There was no sign of life. The airport military command said the plane was on the south side of the towering volcano at an altitude of 15,000 feet. Ground parties were climbing the mountain. A civilian pilot flew his small plane near the spot.

Health Agency Reports 42nd Case Of Polio in County

The county health department today reported the 42nd case of polio to date this year.

The latest victim is a five-year-old boy resident who was admitted to Kingston Hospital early last night. He was reported today as in "fairly good" condition.

A victim, who, the health department said, had a mild case of the disease was also a five-year-old boy. His case was reported Saturday and the onset dated back to September 9.

Meanwhile, the 35-year-old woman victim, who has been at Kingston Hospital for several days was reported still in serious condition.

Anglo Profit Tax
Treason Union Congress, backbone of the Labor party, for the devaluation policy.

The T.U.C. general council—which usually endorses government policy—last night pointedly declined to approve devaluation. Instead it said it would discuss the problem further.

Trades union leaders fear that devaluation will bring a marked rise in the cost of living. At the same time, the T.U.C. is committed to support the government's wage-freeze policy in the face of growing demands from union members for higher wages.

Reds Lack Formula
constant concern for security on the part of the communists.

If there were any security leaks, McMahon said they must have occurred when the army had charge of the project during the war and before the civilian commission took over.

He said that the basic work on producing atomic energy had been done in many countries before the war began, adding that "Russia has the bomb today because its development was principally a matter of time and hard work."

1,100 Miners . . .
Springs, W. Va. But he has said there can be no progress in the negotiations while talks are progressing in the dispute in the steel industry. A strike is threatened in that vital industry for 12:01 a. m. (E.S.T.) Saturday.

Jeweler Adjudged Sane
Quebec, Que., Sept. 27 (AP)—A Quebec jeweler, accused of blowing up a plane with a time bomb to murder his wife and collect $10,000 insurance, is sane, according to police. They said the jeweler, J. Albert Guay, was found sane yesterday by Dr. Gustave Desrochers, Quebec psychiatrist, and other experts, after a mental examination. Police said Guay, held on a murder charge, had two motives in killing his wife—to collect the insurance on her life and get rid of her because he loved another woman.

Breath-taking new 1950 Studebaker!

IT'S THE "NEXT LOOK" IN CARS

ALL OVER AMERICA, all eyes are on this dramatically different 1950 Studebaker.

All over America, millions of people are talking about it—the most sensational advance in automobile style since Studebaker introduced the first "new look" in cars three years ago.

This 1950 Studebaker is long, low, luxurious—but how trim, sleek and light-streamed it is! No bulging excess bulk to squander gasoline!

Stop in and get a close-up eyeful of this breath-taking Studebaker "next look" in cars. From that gleaming aero-curve front end to those light-streamed rear fenders, it has the lines and the lure of something jet-propelled!

Stand-out advancements mark this 1950 Studebaker!
Higher compression Champion and Command engines of increased horsepower • Self-stabilizing coil spring front wheel suspension • Wide-rim wheels and extra-low-pressure tires • Brakes automatically adjust themselves • Symmetrically centered variable ratio steering • Oversized windows and windshield • Clear-proof "black light" instrument panel dials.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Last week marked the twentieth anniversary of the towering top of the big bull market of 1929.

As if to commemorate the great crisis and smash-up of 20 years ago, this week is crowded with minor crises. However, we are not faced with an explosion such as occurred then.

Two basic industries—steel and coal—are about to strike, or are on strike, the outcome of which was not guessable when this was written. Strikes are often more serious in the newspapers than in the field, so these crises may prove temporary.

First stocks of the sudden—yet expected—devaluation of the pound sterling have already been felt, but further complications will develop as time goes on.

Summed up briefly, a few points perhaps need emphasis.

(1) Stability of currencies is the great need of the times. Without stability one cannot readily do business in international trade. One never knows what the exchange rate may be in the future, so long as the official rate of exchange is at sharp variance with the black-market, or free-market rates. For example, the pound sterling has been traded as low as $2.80 in Switzerland, and this was the rate decided upon by Cripps in his devaluation. This drastic cut was lower than had been expected. But, as he said in his radio address to the English people, rates must eventually be stable "so they (foreign traders) know where they are in their business."

(2) Stability of currencies is a result of general economic sound health. Sound currencies do not make stable economies in nations. It is the other way around: a sound economy arises from a strong and stable currency.

(3) Accordingly, a stable pound will, in the long run, depend upon whether or not Great Britain strengthens her general economic position.

(4) It is important to note that the pound has been devalued in terms of the dollar. The pound sterling in relation to other foreign currencies can stand on its own feet. (Thus, other currencies have already devalued—and a wholesale devaluation will result.) The reason for cutting the value of the pound was (a) to bring English goods into the United States at a lower price and (b) to facilitate foreign trading in all dollar areas. By so doing, Great Britain hopes to prevent the drain of dollars. If the pound now stands up on an equal footing with the dollar, dollars will flow back toward the sterling area. To repeat, it is a pound-versus-dollar proposition. An expedient—a play for time, until Great Britain can become productively strong in world markets.

In this connection, let me quote a statement by Geoffrey Crowther, noted editor of the London Economist, whose views were recently given in the U. S. News & World Report. His comment was in reply to a question whether devaluation of the pound would solve, or help to solve, Britain's problem:

"I don't think you can use the word 'solve,' replied Mr. Crowther. 'I think it might help. . . But it wouldn't be by any means a solution. . . A cut in the value of the pound will make our goods cheaper in the United States, but won't make them cheaper in Germany, or in France, or in Asia, or in Australasia, or in other places, where, in fact, we sell most of them. No, it's a help, but it does not really solve us from the necessity of doing the basic thing, and that is reducing our costs of production expressed in the pound sterling at home.'"

(5) The pound has been hedged about with numerous restrictions imposed upon it by the controlled economy of Great Britain. Until these are removed, it will not be "free" to fight for its own level of value in world markets.

From what might be termed a "philosophical," or ideological viewpoint, it is interesting to note some of Sir Stafford Cripps' remarks in his radio address Sunday evening. For example, he said that "In the old days this reduction price (the reason for the devaluation) would have been forced by creating unemployment and bankruptcy. . . In that way our goods would have become cheaper, and so we would eventually have got a greater volume of sales. . . There can be no question of this government accepting such a policy. Our deepest conviction is that the productive powers of the whole people must be used in the full and that poverty in the midst of plenty. . . must never return if anything that we can do will prevent it."

Business and finance are ruthless. It will, therefore, be highly informative and significant for the long future to learn whether controlled manipulation of finance can take the place of the former ruthless methods of competition in world markets.

Further, note this Cripps comment: "An important fact I want to bring home to you is that there is no reason whatsoever for an immediate increase in any prices in the shops—except bread (because wheat from America will cost more) . . . and we shall not tolerate anyone taking advantage of the situation for their own profit-making. It will be informative to see, as the months pass, whether additional controls on prices will be instituted in England. It is

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—American businessmen may have quite a fight on their hands to hold their rich but already shrinking Latin American markets.

If European competition gets hot enough, Americans might have to slash prices, and some see that leading to pressure for cuts in labor and raw material costs here at home.

United States exports to Latin America dropped 17 per cent last year from 1947, and have fallen an equal amount so far this year. Exporters feel that the down trend will speed up, since European manufacturers, aided by currency juggling, now can wave slashed price tags under the noses of South American buyers. We exported around $4 billion to Latin America in 1947, only $3 1/3 billion last year, and this year we probably won't reach $3 billion.

At the moment our trade with South America is at a walk. Exporters and importers alike are awaiting currency moves in some Latin American republics. Argentina is believed ready to cut the peso Peru and Uruguay may devalue, too.

When the world's exchange rates shake down into a fairly stable pattern again—perhaps before the first of the year—the fight for world trade can really get tough.

Then American businessmen will see by just how much the British, French, Belgians and Dutch can undersell us—and, equally important, just how their products and services compare with ours. Some contend that even currency juggling can't give Europeans an edge over Americans in making, delivering and selling goods.

However, there seems little doubt that European price cutting, through devaluation, was aimed quite as much at a fight for world markets as at the more immediate object of easing the dollar shortage by selling more foreign goods in the United States.

May Be Our Loss
Right now Europeans are busily figuring at just what price level they can expect to get the greatest gains in world markets. Unfortunately, their gains may be in large measure our loss.

Before the pound tumbled, American finished goods reached Latin America with a price advantage of 10 to 20 per cent over European goods, thanks in large part to superior American production methods. But South Americans were shy of dollars and turned to barter deals with Europe. With devaluation, European goods today have a theoretical price edge over ours of 10 to 20 per cent.

But European costs are rising. Raw materials they get from the dollar areas automatically cost them more. Pressure is on for wage boosts to offset rising living costs in devalued countries. Shipping rates to South America have been raised. And prices on some European goods have been arbitrarily raised, to increase profits.

How our South American trade is slipping is shown by several reports today.

1. The National Foreign Trade Council says: In the first five months of 1949, our shipments to Argentina fell to $52 1/2 million. This was less than one-fourth of the $232 million in the same period of 1948. In the first five months of this year our trade declined from last year by 18 per cent to Brazil, 15 per cent to Chile, and 30 per cent to Uruguay. However, during 1948 Britain's trade with Latin America rose 48 per cent over 1947 and by 230 per cent over 1938.

2. The Brazilian Government Trade Bureau here reports a 400 per cent increase in trade with France in the first four months of this year over the same period in 1948. Brazil sends England cotton, sugar, tobacco, coffee and oil seeds. American farmers have cotton, tobacco and oil seeds for sale, too. France sends Brazil autos, wool yarn, wool cloth, textile machinery and organic dyes. Americans could send those things in return for coffee.

Harold L. Shortt Weds Marie Hill At Blue Mountain

The Blue Mountain Dutch Reformed Church was the setting at 2 p. m. Sunday for the wedding of Miss Marie Shirley Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Hill of Blue Mountain, to Harold L. Shortt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shortt of High Woods.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Oscar Jelsma, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church.

Miss Edith York was organist and LeRoy Donaldson sang "Because I Love You Truly and The Lord's Prayer. The church was decorated with gladioli.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Harry L. Hill. She wore a gown of bridal satin with net overskirt caught with satin bows, imported lace yoke and sleeves. Her fingertip lace veil was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Dorothy Shortt, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor wore a yellow taffeta gown and carried bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Janet Shults of Poughkeepsie, niece of the bride, and Mrs. Evelyn Hill, sister-in-law of the bride, of Palenville, as bridesmaids wore pink and blue taffeta gowns and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Nancy McBrearty, niece of the bride, the flower girl, wore a white taffeta gown and carried floral petals.

Benjamin Hill of Woodstock, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Harry Hill, brother of the bride, of Palenville, and Warren Schomer, cousin of the bridegroom, of High Woods. Barry Hill of Woodstock, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception for approximately 150 guests was held at Centerville Fire Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Shortt left for a wedding trip to Saranac Lake, Niagara Falls, Canada, and Pennsylvania. For traveling she chose a gray suit with red accessories and corsage of red roses. They will live in High Woods.

The bride attended Blue Mountain schools and is employed at Kingsley Fashions. Her husband was graduated from Saugerties High School and is a partner in a well drilling concern.

by JAMES H. WINTERS

"Oh no, you shouldn't place your piano against an outside wall." That is the myth.

During our twenty-five years of servicing pianos in this locality I have never seen one harmed in the slightest due to placing it against an outside wall but have seen a great many badly damaged through placing them against improper inside walls. By improper walls I mean too warm walls, walls with chimneys inside them or heat ducts, ranges on the opposite side etc. This is during the winter, of course, and during this season the greatest enemy of your piano is too dry heat. This causes wood to shrink, cracking sounding boards, loosening tuning pins which are held in wood, and many other hard to correct damages. Your outside wall is usually the coolest wall therefore place your piano against it with confidence that you are doing the right and best thing for your instrument.

By the same token I suggest that you place a lovely new Wurlitzer Piano against that outside wall. I sell Wurlitzers, I believe in Wurlitzers. I know how well they are built. Since Mr. Ralph Sperry, who used to make the Mason & Hamlin piano, took charge of the Wurlitzer factory, they are the most improved pianos in the industry.

Walter R. Lang, Theresa Naccarato Married Sunday

The marriage of Miss Theresa Marie Naccarato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Naccarato, 36 North street, to Walter R. Lang, 75 Albany street, son of Mrs. Margaret Lang, 20 North street, was performed in a double ring ceremony Sunday at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. The Rev. Edward J. Farrelly officiated.

Theodore Riccobono was organist. Martin Kelly sang Ave Maria. The altar was decorated with red roses and gladioli. The bride was escorted by her brother, Michael Naccarato. Her gown of ivory satin was made with off-the-shoulder neckline, nylon yoke trimmed with seed pearls, long sleeves edged with seed pearls, skirt in train. Her ivory bonnet headpiece held in place the fingertip veil and she carried white gladioli.

Mrs. Josephine Bujak, matron of honor, wore a yellow tulle gown with matching headpiece and carried orchid gladioli. Peter Lang was best man for his brother.

A reception for 200 guests was held at Glisano's, Port Ewen, where a buffet luncheon was served. The couple left for a wedding trip in the south. She wore a plum tulle suit with black accessories and corsage of white gladioli. They will live at 43 Grandview avenue.

McCombs-Marl
Ellenville, Sept. 27.—The marriage of Miss Dorothy Virginia Marl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Marl of Cragmoor, to Harry McCombs of Ellenville was solemnized at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Adolph Wall Sunday afternoon, September 18. The Rev. Mr. Reustic officiated.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress and carried a handkerchief which had belonged to her great-grandmother. The couple left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada and will live in Cragmoor.

Engaged to Wed*Charlotte Cooper Announces Wedding Plans for October

Miss Charlotte Marion Cooper, 23 Oakwood boulevard, Poughkeepsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Cooper, 188 Manor avenue, this city, has announced plans for her wedding October 15. She will become the bride of Jack Albert Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gill, Hurley.

The ceremony will take place at 3 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. William J. McVey, minister officiating. Miss Edna Merriew, organist will play a program of bridal music and John McCullough, cousin of Miss Cooper, will be the soloist.

Mr. Cooper will give his daughter in marriage. Miss Janet Weber will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Ann Manfro, and Mrs. Bernard Mizel, Hurley, sister of the prospective bridegroom.

Bernard Mizel will attend his brother-in-law as best man. Ushers will be Dr. George Bushnell, John Sanglyn and Robert Cooper, brother of the bride-elect, all of Kingston, and Walter Janssens of Teaneck, N. J.

A reception will be held at 4 p. m. at Ye Nieuw Dorp, Hurley. The couple also plans to live in Hurley.

Miss Cooper received her degree in 1946 from Cornell University. She is a member of the Poughkeepsie branch, American Association of University Women, and Mid-Hudson Cornell Women's Club, which she has served as president. She is employed in the home service department of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Gill attended North Carolina State College where he was a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. He served in the Marine Corps in the Pacific area during the war and is associated in business with his father.

Lofaro-Abbruzzese

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Abbruzzese of Milton have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Emmaline Abbruzzese, to Rocco Lofaro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lofaro of Milton, Sunday afternoon, September 18, in St. James' Church, Milton. The Rev. G. J. Bliss of St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie, officiated assisted by the Rev. John Moran, pastor of the Milton church.

The altar was decorated with late summer garden flowers. Joseph Russa was altar boy. Wedding music was played by Dominick Lofaro. Mrs. Dolores Virgilio of Newburgh was the soloist. Church ushers were Joseph Abbruzzese, brother of the bride, and Joseph Lofaro, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride, gowned in ivory satin, was escorted to the altar by her father. Her long veil was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and orchids. The matron of honor, Mrs. Richard Basile of Palisades Park, N. J., a cousin of the bride, wore a gown of American beauty tulle with matching feathered headpiece and carried dusty pink roses. As maid of honor Miss Rose Lofaro of Milton, sister of the bridegroom, wore a tea rose tulle gown with matching feathered headpiece and carried American beauty roses.

Philip Carlsino of New Kensington, Pa., an uncle of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church hall. Music was provided by Dominick Lofaro's orchestra. On their return from a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside in Milton.

Both are graduates of Marlborough Central High School. Mr. Lofaro served in the armed forces four years and saw duty overseas. He is associated with the New York Central Railroad system.

WHOSE FAULT?

A reader tells me: "Recently the man I was with put my eyeglasses case in his pocket, with my glasses in it. Later, when he went to give them to me in the movies, the glasses were broken. He has offered to pay for new ones, which will cost $30. As I'd just paid for the others I really can't afford new ones, but would it be proper for me to let him pay for them?" He feels it was his fault; on the other hand, I don't believe it was, as he was kind enough to offer to put them in his pocket when I couldn't find the necessary space in my small handbag.

There is no definite answer to this question. I don't think it is fair for him to pay the whole. As it is impossible for you to pay for it yourself, perhaps the only possible solution may be to halve it.

Taking Candy

Dear Mrs. Post: When I spend a week-end with a friend at her parents' house, to whom should I give the box of candy I take. I suppose to either her mother or the girl, but which one?

Answer: To her mother.

Send Sympathy to One You Know

Dear Mrs. Post: When one knows only one daughter in the family of the deceased, should a sympathy note be sent to her alone or to the whole family?

Answer: To her alone, but of course you express special sympathy for the one for whom the sorrow is greatest. For her father, for example, if her mother has died.

Unusual But Might Be Practical
Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be permissible to have "no gifts" added at the bottom of an engraved wedding invitation? We have a large department store and we think many of the guests will feel that ordinary wedding gifts will not be sufficient in our case. We'd like to relieve them of any obligation.

Answer: This is a very unusual thing to do, but not impossible if you choose. Even this wouldn't prevent anyone who really wanted to send a gift, and I agree it would release those who otherwise might feel forced to do so.

Many readers have asked how to write Thank-you notes, and invitations. Mrs. Post gives examples of personal messages in leaflet E-21, "Model Notes."

To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Winning Combination

Four of Boston's victorious Red Sox players got together in a dressing room celebration of Boston's 7-6 victory over New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium. Left to right: Vern Stephens, who drove in two runs; Al Zarilla, who made two spectacular catches in right field; Bobby Doerr, whose bunt squeezed the winning run across; and Johnny Pesky, who scored winning run (A.P. ### League Action Likely On Player and Manager

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—Outfielder Cliff Mapes today found himself the middle man in a boiling controversy between Umpire Bill Grieve and the New York Yankees over the squeeze play decision by which Boston took over the American League lead.

After Umpire Grieve called Johnny Pesky safe at home on Bobby Doerr's squeeze bunt in the eighth inning of yesterday's game, Mapes, a non-combatant, yelled: "How much did you have bet on the game?"

Grieve said the Yank flycatcher repeated the remark in a runway under the stands after the ball game, the score of which was 7-6. "There's never been an umpire found guilty of anything like some ball players—like throwing a game," Grieve commented.

In the cool of the evening, Grieve said he still intended to report the incident to President Will Harridge of the American League. "I'll explain the Mapes incident," he said, "and also tell how I was pushed by Houk (Yankee catcher Ralph Houk) and the manager (Casey Stengel). I kept Houk in there because he was their only catcher but any other day, you know, both would have been out."

"The runner slid under Houk and that's all there is to it. Sure, I could have made the easy call, giving it to the home club; but in my heart, I know I made the right call."

Associated Press photographers caught the disputed play. Pictures show plainly that Houk's throw beat Pesky to the plate. Whether or not the tag was made before he slid over with the run, is open to discussion.

Whether Mapes will be disciplined by league headquarters is for Harridge to determine. Harridge said he planned to issue a formal statement today.

Harder-Trippi Magic Trips Redskins, 38-7

Chicago, Sept. 27 (AP)—Pat Harder and Charley Trippi led the Chicago Cardinals to a 38-7 National Football League triumph over the Washington Redskins last night. There were 24,136 fans in Comiskey Park for the first league contest of the season for the Cards and Redskins.

Harder and Trippi each scored two touchdowns.

Washington made its only tally in the second quarter in an 86-yard drive featuring Sammy Baugh's passing.

By RALPH RODEN

The possibility was strong today that the nation's railroads—and not New York's famed subway system—will transport the participants in the 1949 World Series.

The right of way between Boston and St. Louis is the expected route of the series personnel instead of the hour ride via the underground from Ebbets Field to the Yankee Stadium.

New Yorkers' hopes of a "subway" World Series suffered another rude, but yesterday when the torrid Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees, 7-6, to snap their first place tie and move a game in front of the floundering Yankees in the American League race.

The dreams of a dime classic were jarred Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals moved a game and a half in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers by downing Chicago while Brooklyn succumbed to Philadelphia.

Both the Red Sox and the Cards renew their pennant drives on foreign fields today while the Yankees are at home and the Dodgers idle.

Ten Game Streak

The Red Sox, riding a ten game winning streak, take on the last place Senators in a night game at Washington while the Yankees entertain the better equipped Philadelphia Athletics. The Cards meet the sixth place Pirates in a night game at Pittsburgh.

The Red Sox outlook is brighter than the Yankees. The spirited men of McCahey have beaten the Senators 13 straight times. The Yankees have won 12 out of 19 engagements with the Athletics.

St. Louis will have its work cut out beating Ralph Kiner and company. The Pirates, despite their lowly perch, have split 20 games with the Red Birds.

The Dodgers return to action tomorrow when they open a two-game set with the fourth place Braves in Boston.

Squeeze Play Cliffs

A disputed squeeze play, that climaxed a four-run eighth inning gave the Red Sox their triumph over the Yankees before 66,156 paid onlookers.

Bobby Doerr bunted Johnny Pesky across with the big run. Doerr dropped the ball down the first line, Tommy Henrich's throw had Pesky beat but Umpire Bill Grieve called Pesky safe. He said later the Red Sox runner slid under the catcher's foot.

The Yankees immediately swarmed around Grieve like a bunch of hornets, claiming that Houk had blocked off Pesky. Houk, a major in the Rangers during the war, was the most enraged of the Yankees.

Zarilla Saves Game

Ellis Kinder, who shut out the Yankees in Boston Saturday, blanked the New Yorkers in the last two rounds but an amazing catch by Zarilla saved the game in the ninth. With one down in the home ninth, Zarilla sprang a drive to right. Zarilla sprinted in his right, leaped while in full stride, caught the drive, tumbled to the ground but held on to the ball. Kinder then walked Yogi Berra but Hank Bauer fied out to end the game.

The Red Sox opened the game by scoring three runs in the first inning against Tommy Byrne and Fred Sanford.

Young Mickey McDermott held the lead until the fourth when the Yankees moved ahead with a four-run rally. McDermott almost received his walking papers in the second but Zarilla came up with a tremendous catch against the third field stands to rob Johnny Lindell of a three-run homer.

Golden Superman Headlines Mat Show

The Golden Superman, blonde wrestling sensation, headlines the professional wrestling exhibitions tonight at the municipal auditorium at 8:30.

The ex-movie strong man and one time amateur weight lifting champion will meet the popular and capable Irish George Flynn, Irish heavyweight champion.

Jim Mitchell, the colored sensation from Hollywood, will make his initial appearance in Kingston, against the rough and tough, Icydie Freeman of the Bronx.

Mitchell recently arrived from the Coast where his last match—against Gorgeous George—ended in a riot and made it necessary to call out the riot squad of the Los Angeles police department to restore order. It was one of the roughest matches ever seen on the Coast.

Baron Michelle Leone, the unscrupulous Italian nobleman who is a solid favorite with local crowds, meets a Rochester, N. Y., bad boy, Johnny Barond, in a 30-minute tussle that should delight the patrons who like to see roughhouse tactics.

The 30-minute can take place Steve Karas, of Detroit, against Dick Lever of Charlotte, North Carolina.

Reserved seats can be secured by calling the Tommy Maines Sport Shop, 3069-J.

Bagatelles:

Dr. Joseph Jacobson's rousing 7 and 6 victory over Judge Cashion in the Twaal'skill Golf Club Class B finals was the golf eye-brow lifter of the year. The doctor fired a 38 in the first nine. Not even the judge's fine Irish tenor could stand up under a salvo like that. Tommy Danaher got a nice break in weather for his annual pro-am and it was a brilliant affair.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Coach Sam Kalloch of Poughkeepsie has one of the better scholastic halfbacks around in Alfie Herdon. It might have been a joke two weeks ago, but that Red Sox World Series ticket reservation booth at Frank Grimaldi's barber shop doesn't seem so funny at the moment. Gus Brinnier will go along on that one. Emil Moscovitz, of Stamford, the best hurler in the Colonial League, handicapped his old teammates, the Bushwicks, 4-0, Sunday with three hits. The Pioneer, incidentally, have sold first baseman, Carl Bush, to the Philadelphia Phillies. Bush and Pete Gentile, both with Stamford, hit the longest home runs of the season at municipal stadium. Incidentally, whatever became of all those sales Ted Lavino was going to make for the Colonials??? The shot that may have won the Wiltwyck pro-am for Alex Gerlak was a birdie-5 on the tough No. 3 hole, second time around.

The bowlers of the city, male and female, we mean! The merchants and Mr. John Q. Public himself should lend support to the current project being sponsored by the Kingston Women's Bowling Association in their campaign to raise funds for the 1950 state tournament. That is a tremendous undertaking and the ladies will need plenty of support. The trio of Mrs. Dewey Logan, Dot Kheiderman and Phyl Gohlzinger is carrying the ball in good style. How about giving them a hand?

The Great Outdoors:

Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duvy reports that more than 100,000 trout already have been trucked to the new Catskill trout hatchery near DeBruce, Sullivan county for over-wintering. When finally completed next summer, the hatchery will be one of America's largest fish farms. It is one of 21 operated by the Conservation Department and will serve the famous Catskill streams. Fish already at the plant include 84,000 brown trout and 12,000 brook trout now averaging five inches and which will be of legal length next spring. The main chair lift on the Belleayre Mt. ski slope will be able to carry 400 passengers an hour from the 2,400 foot level at the southern end on Overlook Drive to the 3,400 foot level with an intermediate landing at the halfway point. Plans call for its completion by the middle of December. Nimrods are reminded of two important changes in the game law. One requires a special license for hunting big game (deer and bear) in place of the former special license for deer only. The other provides a later opening of the Adirondack deer season which starts Oct. 25 and runs through Nov. 25. Otherwise the laws remain the same as last year with the Catskill deer season Nov. 15-Nov. 30.

Frankie Suss, athletic officer of American Legion Post of the Town of Exopus, has announced plans for a junior basketball league that will embrace teams from Port Jervis, Ulster, St. Remy, Exopus, Connelly and New Salem. All games will be played at the Wiltwyck School court in Exopus. Youngsters who would like to compete in the league can sign with the following representatives in their respective communities: Exopus, Earle Terwilliger; Ulster, Charles Edmunds; Port Jervis, John Coniglio; Connelly, Ray Munner; Port Jervis, Frank Suss at Reicher's Garage. These men are members of the organizational committee.

I suppose that if all those New York Giant fans on whom I have been riding hard all season would like to ask "whatever became of the Yankees?", this would seem to be the propitious moment. "Lo," quoth the poor scribe, "remember way back in the good old days when he had 'five' on the losing side."

(By The Associated Press)

Schenectady, N. Y.—Sandy Sadler, 129, New York, stopped Proctor Reinhold, 128, Oklahoma City (2).

Brooklyn—Tippy Larkin, 147, Garfield, N. J., knocked out Hy Melzer, 145½, New York (2). Baltimore — Sonny Boy West, 138½, Washington, D. C., out-pointed Teddy (Red Top) Davis, 132, New York (10).

Providence, R. I.—Rocky Marciano, 179½, Providence, stopped Tommy Giorgio, 183½, Schenectady, N. Y. (4).

Musial tacked five points to his mark during the spar and ranks third, a point behind Slaughter at 337. Brooklyn's Carl Furillo climbed from seventh to fourth place, jumping his average nine points from 305 to 314.

Chicago, Sept. 27 (AP)—Only a stretch-run slump apparently can keep Boston's Ted Williams from capturing his third straight American League batting title and his fifth since 1941.

Officials computed through Sunday's games gave Williams a .349 listing, seven points ahead of Detroit's injured George Kell, who had .342.

Tied for third place were Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, and Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, .315 each. Dom Dimaggio, Boston, was next with .314.

Bowling Meeting

The first meeting of the Ahuva (Israel) bowling team will be held at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium at 9 p. m. Thursday, September 29. All bowling members interested in bowling regularly are asked to contact Gindy Goldruh, chairman, by Wednesday. Her telephone number is 4519-M.

Wiltwyck to Report Banner Golf Season

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Wiltwyck Golf Club, Inc., will be held Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 8 p. m. at the club house on Hurley avenue.

Five directors will be elected for a term of three years. Reports to be made by officers of the club will show that the past year has been one of the most successful since the course was opened.

All stockholders are urged to attend and non-stockholders playing members also are invited.

Adirondack Trailways and Ruzzo's Win Hudson Valley League Matches

Bowling Scores

Jay Melton, a furniture expert, and Herm Arlensky bowled with-in a pin of each other for high series honors in the Good Neighbor League last night at the Bowlers' Club.

Melton opened fast with 191 and 212 and 153 for 556, while Arlensky traveled in the other direction with 198-155-202-556.

Other members of the "500" bracket included Larry Jacobs 203-515; Herm Krenpel 510; Jack Blinger 526; Sam Marlow 505; S. Kaplan 522; S. Zwirn 505; Rube Leventhal 509; and H. Swirsky 501.

Frank Schick paced the Independent League bowlers with 204-181 and 195 on the Bowler's planks. Don Vogel of "300" fame was seven pins behind with 154-192-227-573.

The league's select group for the night also featured Dick Little 203-515; H. Cornish 556; Orv Van Alstyne 504-519; Jack Blinger 526; Sam Marlow 505; S. Kaplan 522; S. Zwirn 505; Rube Leventhal 509; and H. Swirsky 501.

A 483 series gave Dick Little best-of-the-night honors in the Y Federation league last night, with Burt Tandy, the general secretary, not far behind with 474 and L. Havens with 481. T. Larson posted 452.

Margaret Bertram has been elected president of the newly formed six-team Women's Bowler's League at the Bowler's Club. The league starts its schedule Wednesday at 9 p. m.

Other officers named were: Beverly Hooker, vice-president; Jean Hogan, secretary; Dolores Jankowski, treasurer; and Rosemond Simlich, sergeant-at-arms.

The Glasco Fireball, Joe "Lottie" Cashara sparked with a 564 triple in the Bowler's Mixed League Sunday night.

The lean young man with aggressive match game ambitions knocked off scores of 189-176-199. Seven pins behind came W. Kuhar with 189-174-195-557.

Also in the 400 circle were Jim Pruden with 522; Herm Seabach 535; Percy Slover 524; H. Mayhahn 521; Vince Burns 201-518; Tony Albany, of basketball fame, 516; Eddie Ashdown 514 and Len Ward 201-512. Near misses included L. Jordan's 499.

In special week-end matches at the Bowler's James Daley lost to Catskill 2705-2756, while Geraldine Tractors walloped Port Jervis, 2443-2058, in a ladies' match.

Ken Williams shot 224-376 and Cliff Quick 211-355 for Jones City. Fred Rutter posted a 211-305 in a 400 circle match.

Dot Watling was high in the ladies' match with 524.

Brookie Sets Mark With 245 Single

Led by Harold Brookie's 265 solo and 598 triple, the Adirondack Trailways kaglers swept three games from Milon Lumber in Hudson Valley League competition Sunday at the Bowlerium.

Meanwhile, in an intra-alley battle at the Bowlerium, Ruzzo's won the odd set from Elston's Sport Shop.

The sweep gave Trailways a 7 and 2 record for the season. Brookie's 598 was the second highest set in the two matches. His 265 was a new league record.

Trailways won the first game by only two pins and then rolled 1022 in the middle game.

Larry Welshaupt rallied with 209 and 232 after a 145 opener. Johnny Ferraro finished with 224 and missed the "600" bracket by a pin. Charlie Manfro's 572 led the Milons.

Van Hoesen Leads
George Van Hoesen, Bowlerium alley manager, paced Ruzzo's with 557 in a low-scoring duel. Joe Schwanitz 561, 123-381, 123-381. The 203 was the only "200" score in the 30 individual sets rolled.

The August issue of The Bridge World gave the Western Tournament in California a nice writeup. There are many fine players in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and they hold some great tournaments each year. They extend to their visiting guests a hospitality that is unsurpassed anywhere.

Today's hand is taken from the article in The Bridge World, which was written by Douglas Steen of Los Angeles.

North was trapped into doubling because his partner had not only made an opening bid, but later made a second free bid. South was not vulnerable and was hoping that he and his partner could take a sacrifice game, a probably certain game.

The play of the hand was very interesting. Declarer won the opening lead of the king of diamonds in dummy and led the jack of hearts. South won this trick with the queen and returned a diamond. Declarer ruffed, then led a small heart and finessed dummy's eight-spot, North winning with the king.

At this point North returned the club, which was won in dummy with the ace. Now declarer did not make the mistake of cashing the ace of hearts. Instead he led spades. North trumped the fourth round, declarer overtrumped, picked up the last trump by leading a heart to the ace, and thus he lost only one club and two hearts, making his contract.

Only His Own, She Says
Los Angeles, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sometimes when Band leader Jimmy Dorsey came home late at night he would play one of his recordings as many as 100 times, his wife testified in obtaining a divorce. "If anybody brought records by some other musicians into the house, he would smash them," his wife of 21 years, Jane, said yesterday. She won the uncontested divorce, charging cruelty. Under a settlement, Mrs. Dorsey, 39, will receive $850 monthly alimony from the 45-year-old bandleader and 25 per cent of his income over $20,000 annually. They have a married daughter, Julia.

New Zealand Taxes
Auckland, New Zealand, (AP)—Each person in New Zealand will pay almost $290 in taxes this year, says Walter Nash, taxation finance minister. This compares with about $95 in 1939. The only way to reduce taxes, Nash says, is to cut social services and reduce the number of civil servants. This, he said, the government will not do. Commenting on his statement, the "New Zealand Herald" said, "army of controllers, inspectors and form-filling clerks will remain."

Finishing Up
Durham, N. C. (AP)—Louis Allen, a freshman never to play regularly on a Wallace Wade-coached football team is leading the Blue Devils this season. Captain Allen, rated an All-America tackle candidate by the Boosters, first played for Duke as a freshman in 1946. He was in his final season, Allen was Duke in 1946 after two years in the Navy.

University of Arizona football, Mike Bob Morrison is playing for fifth varsity letter this season.

'Uncle Will' Beadle Retires; Carried Passengers 45 Years

If it is indeed a satisfying feeling to know that one is missed, William Beadle of 36 Oak street must have that feeling today.

Since he retired last week as driver of a Washington-Foxhall line bus, youngsters by the dozens have asked about him. Some have even called the office of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation to inquire about their favorite driver.

Oldsters, too, miss the man who for close to half a century helped Kingstonians to get where they want to go. To be exact, Beadle has been connected with public transportation first as a trolley conductor and later as a bus driver for 45 years, seven months and 15 days prior to his retirement last Thursday.

In that span of time Beadle has become acquainted with many persons and in some cases has carried two generations of bus riders in the same families.

For the past three and a half years, he carried many children to school at Public School No. 6 and at St. Joseph's School. Some of the younger pupils have never before this week ridden to school with any other driver.

Beadle, known to the children as "Mr. Beadle" and to older folk as "Uncle Will," began his career in public service as a trolley conductor in Kingston on February 6, 1904.

Was in Trolley Crash
He was conductor on the ill-fated trolley which was struck by a truck at the Broadway crossing on March 4, 1918. Riding just inside the door at the time, he escaped death or injury.

Since that time, he has never had a serious accident and in May he received a citation from the insurance company for nine years as a bus driver without any accident.

Thomas Gadd, vice-president of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, states that Beadle has a perfect record, not only for accident prevention but also for attendance on the job and relations with customers. "He was not excitable, was very jovial and always pleasant," Gadd said. "The children will miss him," he added.

It was September 30, 1930, that Conductor Beadle made his last trolley run. On the following day he became a bus driver.

At first, Beadle says, he thought he was through when the trolleys were taken off. One day, however, he saw "an old fellow" driving a truck and decided "if he can do it, so can I."

How He Learned
Beadle exploded one myth when he reviewed his career for The Freeman. A popular story among fellow drivers is that Beadle never owned or drove a pleasure car in his life, and that he stepped right from trolley to bus with a little instruction.

"That's not so," Beadle said. He pointed out he learned to drive on a borrowed car, then bought his own Nash, which he owned for several years.

After selling the old Nash, however, he never did buy another automobile, and is not addicted to the popular version of a "busman's holiday." When they go to Ocean Grove every summer for a vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Beadle travel part way by bus and part way by train.

Beadle is 71 years old. Regular retirement age for bus drivers is 65, but because of his perfect health and good physical condition, he has been allowed to retain his license six years after most drivers give it up.

Oldest Union Member
He is the oldest active member of the Kingston local of Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, A.F.L., having joined in 1919.

His favorite bus is No. 17, a 1932 Yellow Coach. Beadle remembers no outstanding incidents in his long career in public transportation, other than the tragic wreck at the Broadway grade crossing.

He has noticed, however, a gradual speeding up of life in the days not too far past, people were more leisurely. On the Washington-Foxhall avenue run in the 1930's, he used to stop in front of a customer's house and wait for the customer to get up.

Another Horseman—Elmer Layden, Jr., is attempting to follow in the flying footsteps of his father, Notre Dame fullback of Four Horsemen fame and later head coach. The 19-year-old sophomore halfback matriculated from Chicago's Loyola High.

WILLIAM BEADLE

his coat. Some drivers then would stop while a rider got off to buy a newspaper.

Coffee, Cakes Days Over
Also in those days, some of the residents along the route would come out with coffee or cakes for the bus driver.

When things began to speed up and several customers began complaining of these services, drivers were shifted from one run to another, and Beadle was taken off the Washington-Foxhall route. For many years he rode the Hasbrouck avenue line, but three and a half years ago he was given a special run on the Washington-Foxhall route.

This special run, tailored for him, kept him busy half a day, and filled the real need of having an extra bus to carry the many school children.

His philosophy for success in driving was summed up by Beadle simply. "I always tried to be accommodating."

He was married on April 19, 1906, and has two sons, a daughter and four grandchildren. His wife is still very proud of him and his record. She is also proud of his sparetime craftsmanship, and points out that he has made screens for the house and many other items.

New, with his retirement, Beadle plans to take it easy. He probably will not be for long, as he and Mrs. Beadle are already planning several jobs around the house, including the making of several more screens.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER
Speaking to Morris Kenik, North Front street grocer, he said he remembers 41 years ago when he came to Kingston, how 5 o'clock in the morning the heavy wagon wheels of the bluestone wagons used to wake them up as they rolled along North Front street's not too smooth roadway.

Art Week coming around on November 1st I asked Miss Mary Schaeffer, Kingston City librarian about old pictures which may be at the library. She has one of Henry Abbey, the poet, painted by John Vanderlyn, Jr., and also a landscape by Jarvis McEntee. I was wondering if there are other public buildings which have work of some of Julia Dillon's on their walls. It would be interesting to let the public know during art week.

Bill Longyear's son brought me some interesting pictures. One is a postal card in colors published by Kingston Souvenir Co. showing the loading canal boat at the lock, the old D. & H. Canal, at Rosendale, N. Y. Another is an authentic photograph of the canal with hitching posts nearby. They also show steps which no doubt old timers could explain them. The third is an excellent photograph of the Clermont as she stood in our Kingston Point Park lagoon.

I also have a postal card addressed to Rondout Social Marcher, Rondout, New York, dated May 20, 1908, stating: "Dear Sir: Your organization, float, or carriage will report on Monday, June 1, at 10 15 a. m. on Pine Grove avenue to the Marshall in charge." Signed "Parade Committee." It is typewritten on an excellent machine too. I wonder if it was an Oliver? I take it, that was the parade for the 250th anniversary of the founding of Kingston.

Mention of the mammoth West Point chain in this column last week, brought an item from the Albany Times-Union, of Friday, September 16, 1949, which covers the welcoming of the famous H. M. S. Stuyvesant, and Commander C. G. Walker, calling on Albany Mayor Corning at the City Hall, asking if he may see the historic Hudson river chain which is enshrined at the State Education Building.

The "Times-Union" states the famous chain was forged on General Washington's orders and strung between West Point and Constitution Island April 30, 1778, as an obstacle to prevent British ships from coming up the Hudson. The chain was 500 yards long, its individual links a little over two feet. They said, it was never actually put to the test. Major John Andre landed below West Point by a British sloop, Vulcan, in 1780. Remaining at Flaversham, the Vulcan was forced to retire downstream by American artillery fire—and that was the furthest a British ship had ever come up the Hudson until the H.M.S. Snake in 1949.

I understood that mammoth chain was later broken, don't know the circumstances, but that part of it was taken by the British to the Island of Malta in the Mediterranean Sea. Who knows something about it?

Have received an interesting letter from William DeWitt, city historian, on the buildings now being torn down by the West Shore, also about Kingston being the Capital of the nation at one time, will reprint it in a future column.

University of Arizona end Max Spilburg has won the school heavyweight boxing championship three consecutive years.

Builds Own Speed Boat

Joseph E. Scott of Kingston, is shown at the wheel of the 16-foot all-mahogany plywood runabout craft designed and built by him. The boat is powered with a 60 horsepower Cris Craft engine with a top speed rating of 30 miles per hour. The picture was taken at Ben Rhymer's dock in the Rondout creek.

Central Hudson Plans $6,000,000 Debentures Sale

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation took another step forward in its $33,000,000 financing program Monday when the company's directors called a special meeting of stockholders for October 25 to approve the sale of $6,000,000 of debentures to be convertible into common stock. The sale of the debentures will probably be held in late November or early December.

The first step in the company's current financing program was taken last April with the sale of $2,000,000 of preferred stock. Additional funds, amounting to almost $26,000,000 will be obtained by the sale of mortgage bonds and additional preferred stock during the next three years as well as by the return on the company's business operations.

Proceeds of this financing program will be used to construct a large new 60,000 kilowatt steam generating plant at Danskammer Point on the Hudson river, a new 25,000 kilowatt hydro-electric plant at the outlet of the Neversink Tunnel near Grahamsville, electric transmission and distribution facilities to take care of increased electric use by customers, and to bring natural gas into Central Hudson's gas transmission system.

Commenting on the proposed sale of convertible debentures, Ernest R. Acker, Central Hudson president, said: "The vital fact behind the company's financing program is that Central Hudson must build and build fast if it is to satisfy the requirements of its customers for electricity and gas. We anticipate that the next four years will bring a 45% jump in electric sales and a 50% jump in gas sales. To meet this situation we must tremendously increase our electric generating capacity. We hope also to bring natural gas to the Mid-Hudson valley before the end of the year 1950. All this will take money. But the end result will be to make Central Hudson an even stronger and more stable institution in the future than it has been in the past. I believe everyone will benefit by our financing and construction programs — Central Hudson's customers, its stockholders, its employees."

Legion Sponsoring Daredevil Program At City Stadium

One of the promotions on the schedule of Morgan D. Ryan as commander of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion, will take place this week-end in the form of an automobile daredevil show at municipal stadium.

Les Rogers and his band of harum-scarum drivers are billed to offer 25 spectacular events on the track at the uptown ballpark, one Saturday at 8 p. m. and the other Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

"We've booked Rogers on his reputation," said Ryan, "and anticipate that his routine of hair-raising stunts will thrill large audiences on both occasions."

Rogers and his daredevils claim the stunt driving championships of the United States and Canada and are ready to meet any and all challengers, he says, for world titles.

Included on the program are demonstrations of how Hollywood movie stunt men perform, driving through blazing walls of fire, hurdling and ramp jumping, end over end rolls, etc.

Commander Ryan, busy directing committees in preparation for the annual Victory Ball slated for November, is confident the daredevil show will draw well and has his detail of workers ready to handle capacity crowds Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

B-29 Crashes, 10 Die
Tulhinn, Okla., Sept. 27 (AP)—A B-29 air force bomber crashed and burst into flames near this southeastern Oklahoma town early last night, possibly snuffing out the lives of 13 crew members. Tinker Air Force Base officers in Oklahoma said the plane was on a non-stop navigational training flight from Smoky Hill Base, Salina, Kas. Air force authorities did not disclose names of 13 men who boarded the plane on its takeoff. City Marshal Jack Bishop said he counted 10 bodies near the molten mass shortly after midnight, five hours after the four-engine craft plunged earthward.

Rebuilds Health Center
Vichy (AP)—This French town of 30,000 inhabitants is strongly fighting its inferiority complex. Vichy has been associated for four years with a capitulation regime and its name then meant the provisional capital of the "French State." Though it was only provisional, it lasted too long for Vichy officials who have to rebuild the reputation of this health spa. They have modified the label of some of their mineral water bottles for export. All Vichy water is called "Vichy-Etat" (Vichy-State) but Great Britain objected to that name. So Vichy bottles for England just bear under a tri-color ribbon, the sole name of the city.

The Conestoga wagon, famous in U. S. pioneer days was first made in Pennsylvania about 1750.
